SPEEDY RAF BOMBERS HIT BERLIN 3rd NIGHT IN ROW

AXIS LOSES 96 MORE PLANES TO U. S. FLIERS

Attacks on Sardinia and Sicily Boosts Three-Day Total to 285.

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN NORTH AFRICA, May 22 — American bombers and fighters destroyed 96 more enemy planes yesterday on the invasion approaches to Italy to run the three-day allied victory string to 285 in the drive to smash axis air power in Italy, Sicily and Sardinia.

An allied communique listed 19 enemy planes knocked from the skies and said three additional aircraft were destroyed Thursday night. Spokesmen further disclosed that raiding bombers had destroyed 67 grounded planes, and a Cairo communique said strong formations of U. S. Liberator bombers destroyed ten more challenging fighters in daylight attacks yesterday on San Giovanni and Reggie Calabria, in Italy.

Allies Lose Seven

The additional victories were won at a loss of seven allied planes—a better than 12 to 1 margin, whereas on the preceding day, the Americans destroyed 113 enemy craft with a single loss.

The total allied loss for the three days was 12 planes.

Large fires were left burning by fighter-escorted Flying Fortresses in attacks yesterday on Sciacca and Castelvetrano airfields in Sicily, the communique said.

Harbor installations and gun positions on Pantelleria island, 45 miles east of Cap Bon peninsula, again were attacked.

Seven allied planes failed to return from all the missions, headquarters said.

In addition to the planes shot out of the air in yesterday's attacks, aircraft on the ground were destroyed in the attacks on the Sicilian airdromes. "Both targets were well-covered by bomb bursts and fires were started," the communique said.

Large Fires Started

In the raids on the Sardinian airfields, "large fires and extensive damage to airdrome buildings and to aircraft on the ground resulted," it added.

(A Middle East command communique issued at Cairo said U. S. bombers scored direct hits on ferry terminals at San Giovanni and Reggio Calabria on the Italian mainland yesterday, destroying 10 axis fighter planes attempting to intercept. RAF heavy bombers also attacked Reggie Calabria and Messina Thursday night, starting fires in ferry berths and railway yards, the war bulletin said.)

NAVY CLUB SERVICE SCHEDULED SUNDAY

Annual Memorial Program Set at Forest Glen Park.

The annual memorial service honoring Marion County's Navy dead will be held Sunday at 4:30 p. m. at Forest Glen Memorial park. As in former years the service will be held on the shores of the park lake with an amplifying system hook-up for those who wish to stay in their cars.

The Marion Navy club Memorial committee, composed of Omar Goodrich, Ervin Breithaupt, William Brown and Martin Wolfe, has arranged the following program: patriotic songs by the Harding Brass quartet, composed of Sanford Lane, William Wet[illegible], William Burton and George Whysall; invocation by Rev. Garrison Roebuck of First United Brethren church, address by Arthur Watt, commandant of the local club, and past national officer; music by the Brass quartet; dropping of a floral anchor on the lake from a C.A.P. plane; taps.

Former sailors are asked to meet at the Navy club room at [illegible] West Church street, at 1 p. m. to go to Waldo for participation in the Waldo Memorial services beginning at 1:30.

The Waldo services will take place in the town park at Waldo and the Waldo cemetery. Alfred D[illegible] will be speaker.

Rev. Donald Lyons, pastor of the Methodist church, will be in charge of the services to be held at the [illegible] cemetery at 2 p. m. [illegible] time tomorrow.

Killed in Action On African Front

Marion county's fifth soldier listed as killed in the battle of North Africa, Pvt. Alfred Hart, 27, son of Alonzo Hart of Kirkpatrick, is pictured above.

Pvt. Hart lost his life March 27 in an action against the enemy "somewhere in the North African area."

Memorial services will be held Sunday in the Kirkpatrick Methodist church with Rev. Donald Lyon in charge.

RIVER GUARDED ON LONG FRONT

Soldiers and Civilians Stand Guard Along 100 Miles of Mississippi.

By The Associated Press

An army of soldiers, engineers and civilian defense volunteers stood guard today along a 100-mile front of the mighty Mississippi river, choked by flood waters from scores of tributaries, ready to meet the imminent dangers from the ever-rising "Father of Waters."

From Alton, Ill., southward to Cape Girardeau, Mo., some 4,250 troops patrolled the river front, an area regarded by Army engineers at St. Louis as the immediate concentration point in the six-state mid-west flood zone.

There were other points of danger in the immediate area, however, with the Illinois river on the rise along a 200-mile front and the Missouri river roaring out of its normal channel as it neared its junction with the Mississippi near Alton.

Other States Hit

Flood conditions harassed thousands of families in Indiana, Arkansas, Kansas and Oklahoma.

The homeless total in the entire area was well above the 100,000 mark and the damage to crops and property by the floods reached staggering figures, losses running into the millions of dollars.

The number of dead was 14—eight in Indiana; 3 in Missouri, 2 in Oklahoma, and 1 in Illinois.

Lt. Col. J. A. Adams, deputy Army district engineer at St. Louis, said everything possible had been done to meet the dangers of the rising Mississippi from Alton southward 100 miles. He said the Claryville seawall in Perry county, Mo., had been reinforced and completed, as had other levees along the Mississippi on both the Illinois and Missouri sides.

BEVARD JURY GOES TO MURDER SCENE

Bucyrus Trial To Be Resumed Monday.

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, May 22—A visit by the jury, composed of seven women and five men to the scene of the March 21 strangulation murder of Mrs. Wilma Reed, 29, of Canton, Ill., highlighted action on the fourth day of the second degree murder trial of Pvt. Glore Bevard, 33, in common pleas court here yesterday.

Bevard, sattioned at Camp Millard near here, is charged by the state with murdering Mrs. Reed on the night of March 21 during a quarrel in a northside apartment here which the two shared as man and wife.

The court also ordered Prosecuting Attorney Leo J. Scanlon, who is directing the state's case, and O. H. Hilborn, counsel for the defense, to accompany the jury on the inspection.

Shortly after the jury's visit was completed the court recessed until Monday at 9:30 a. m. Prosecutor Scanlon indicated that he would call two more witnesses Monday morning. They probably will be Dr. O. R. Kackley, Crawford county coroner, and Dr. E. C. Grandt of Crestline, who assisted in conducting an autopsy shortly after the discovery of the murdered victim's body.

Four more witnesses were called by the state yesterday after-

MINERS START RETURN TO PITS; 3,800 OUT NOW

Back-to-Work Move Starts as WLB Opens Way to Pay Raises.

By The Associated Press

The number of idle miners in the nation's coal-fields dwindled today, with only about 3,800 workers still out of the war-vital fuel pits—but elsewhere the all-over labor picture was clouded by conflicting developments.

The back-to-work move came as a three-man fact-finding panel of the war labor board issued a report in Washington on the soft-coal wage controversy in which it left open the way for granting substantial pay concessions to the miners.

The panel's lengthy report discussed all disputed points in the controversy—wage increases, portal-to-portal pay, overtime, and other issues—but made no recommendations.

Meanwhile, some 3,000 miners returned to work in Pennsylvania yesterday, and another 3,000 voted to return to their jobs today or Monday. James Mark, president of United Mine Workers district No. 2, predicted all central Pennsylvania coal fields would be in operation by Monday.

Biggest Stoppage in Ohio

The biggest stoppage in coal production was in Ohio, where 2,500 men were out at four mines.

It appeared that decision time finally was at hand in the long and bitter coal wage controversy. The full WLB started a study of the panel report today and hoped to write a verdict early next week.

But the effect of that decision remains a question mark. John L. Lewis, United Mine Workers boss, has challenged WLB's jurisdiction in the dispute and was reported considering court action to force a resumption of bargaining with the operators—independent of the board.

Lewis' aids said the UMW chieftain believed the board had violated the national labor relations act by ordering the operators to stop negotiations until both sides agree to proceed under WLB auspices.

The mines, seized by the government during the recent walkout, are operating without a contract under a retroactive truce due to expire the end of this month.

William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor, declared last night the AFL intended to stick to its no-strike pledge for the war's duration. Green implied Lewis' mine workers would be bound by such a pledge if their application for readmittance to the AFL is granted.

Strike At Chrysler

Back-to-work trends also were underway at strike-affected war production plants of the Chrysler Corp. in the Detroit area. Walkouts which union leaders said were unauthorized, but which company officials termed organized, left

Girls Help Run Testing Ground for U. S. War Guns

By The Associated Press

ERIE PROVING GROUND, O., May 22—Girls, some of them out of high school barely a year, are working on the firing line to help speed artillery to the battle fronts.

The Army demonstrated the feminine role yesterday in a spectacular display of firepower in observance of the 25th anniversary of this testing ground by Lake Erie.

The girls, their ears stuffed to preserve drums, have helped establish a proving line that okays or rejects artillery in the same swift fashion that industry's production line turns it out.

They sat under 90 millimeter anti-aircraft guns, for instance, and grinned at the terrific slap of the high velocity weapons as they fed in ammunition with much the same nonchalance as putting dishes in the sink at home.

"Get Used To It"

"It sort of scares you," said 20-year-old Betty Wright of Port Clinton, "but you get used to it. I've been doing this since last August."

A crew of girls whipped a 3-inch tank gun through a rapid-fire operation that Army men said was as good as the performance of a trained crew in the field. It was a shellbox-to-gun-to-breach-and-fire maneuver that clicked and thundered with precise rhythm and not an ounce of lost motion.

"It's girls like these who have helped us do what we are doing," said Col. F. C. Shaffer, post commandant. "We've worked out a system of such high efficiency that a trainload of guns received in the morning will be on the way back to the factory by night, tested and ready to be mounted on tanks. We've got to work as fast as the factories or there'll be a hold-up in our tank program."

Colonel Shaffer disclosed to the public for the first time a 240 MM Howitzer, a 32-ton piece of field artillery which he said helped

Cong. Smith Hits Food Parley in Press Statement

Barred from Conference He Calls Secret Sessions "Diabolical."

Barred from the "executive sessions" of the United Nations food conference at Hot Springs, Va., today, Congressman Frederick C. Smith of Marion, representative from the Eight Ohio congressional district, charged that the parley's secret sessions cloaked from public gaze what he termed "one of the most diabolical things ever perpetrated on the American people."

In a statement to reporters assigned to the conference, but like Cong. Smith, barred from the "executive sessions," Cong. Smith said "The American people are entitled to know what's taking place here. There is no question in my mind but that this is part of a grandiose scheme of the planners to plan their super-state to control the economy of the world and the lives of the people," The Associated Press reported.

Admitted to Hotel

Cong. Smith, in the company of Rep. Bradley (R-Mich.) arrived at Hot Springs yesterday and, according to an Associated Press report late yesterday afternoon, were readily admitted to the Homestead hotel, scene of the conference, through military guard lines. The lines were established to bar the public, including newspaper reporters.

In a press conference this morning, both Cong. Smith and Rep. Bradley told reporters they had come to Hot Springs at the invitation of Conference Chairman Marvin Jones and on his assurance that any member of congress would be welcome.

"We were stunned," Bradley declared, "when Jones told us this morning that we were free to go anywhere and attend all sessions of the conference—except executive sessions."

"Temporary visitor" cards have been issued them, they said later, adding that Jones has ruled they could not attend executive sessions of committees unless specifically invited by the committee concerned.

"I was told by Chairman Jones that the state department suggested our presence might be embarrassing, that foreign delegates might not talk freely if we were there," Rep. Bradley continued.

Present Demand

Most of the conference sessions, the two congressmen told newsmen, are "executive sessions." They have demanded that Conference Chairman Jones let them know today whether members of congress are to be permitted to attend any and all sessions of the parley, The Associated Press reported.

Yesterday's report of the conference made by the press service said that Cong. Smith attended a press conference held by the chairman of the French delegation, to see, he said, "just how the reporters get news of the food conference."

VOTE ORDERED AT WAR PLANT

National Labor Board Orders Balloting Within 30 Days for Ordnance Workers.

An election within 30 days among production and maintenance workers of the United States Rubber Co. at the Scioto Ordnance Plant was ordered today by the National Labor Relations Board, The Associated Press in Washington reported.

The NLRB order was made today following a review of testimony taken during a two-day hearing conducted by a district NLRB trial examiner in common pleas court a month ago.

While the type of election to be conducted among ordnance plant employes was not designated in the notification from Washington, heads of two unions here and U. S. Rubber Co. officials said two separate elections probably will be held. One will be for all production and maintenance workers except supervisory employes, truck drivers and members of the plant patrol and the second for truck drivers only.

For the first group of employes a "yes-no" ballot probably will be used. Employes will be given a chance to indicate whether they desire to be represented by the United Rubber Workers of America union, CIO, Local 241.

The ballot for truck drivers will be a choice between the rubber workers union or Teamster's union, AFL, Local 632.

Green Camp Auction Sunday

To Be Main Event of Village's Part in "Buy a Bomber" Drive; Sales Total $273,746.

Everything from rabbits and dogs to farm machinery and pigs will go on the auction block at Green Camp Sunday for the sale of war bonds.

Although arranged by the Green Camp area as the central activity around which to build their part in the Marion county "buy a bomber" campaign, the event will be far greater in scope than a community affair.

George Reynolds, chairman, said sellers and buyers are welcome from all over Ohio, and judging from early indications, the event will bring a great variety of merchandise from over a wide area.

The only thing the committee is concerned about is that the sellers accept their payment in war bonds and stamps. A group of bond writers from the Marion County Bank, headed by R. N. Heininger, assistant cashier, will be on hand to write the bonds and issue stamps as fast as the sales are made.

Ample Space Assured

Enough streets will be closed to provide plenty of room for the auction crowd and the merchandise to be sold. The auction is to begin at 2 p. m., but it is expected a sizeable crowd of consigners and prospective buyers will be on hand well before that hour to bring merchandise and to inspect articles they wish to bid on.

There will be some donated articles for sale, too. These will be given to the bidder who agrees to buy the largest amount of war bonds as each article is auctioned.

"We've already had promises of farm machinery, a number of pigs, many calves, rabbits and dogs and it looks like we may get a little of almost anything," Mr. Reynolds said today as final arrangements for the event were completed.

Meanwhile, sales totaling $23,981.25 yesterday pushed Marion county's "buy a bomber" fund up to $273,746, or a little more 84 per cent of the $325,000 goal.

As arrangements were completed for the final week of the campaign, Chairman Carl E. Danner renewed his appeal to Marion county residents to "be sure to get your bonds in early" if they are to be counted in the bomber drive. He explained that orders must be placed in sufficient time to permit the issuing agencies such as banks to write the bonds before the end of next week. Only bonds actually issued can be counted on the bomber—applications cannot be counted.

Although the month will not be over until a week from Monday night, Sunday and Monday will be of little help to the bomber drive because most issuing agencies will not be operating on those two days, Monday being a holiday.

Large Phone Order

One development reported today was a telephone order given Mrs. Carl E. Danner, chairman of the women's division of the bomber drive who is currently conducting a "War Mothers Week" bond campaign. She said the purchaser, who wished to remain anonymous, arranged to buy five Become First Marion Group Ready To Ease Wartime Shortage of Nurses.

By EDNA S. DUTTON

Eight Marion women pledged themselves to unselfish service, cheerful obedience to regulations and traditions of the American Red Cross and received their caps and pins in the Volunteer Nurses Aides capping exercises last night at Hotel Harding. The class is the first to complete the Volunteer Nurses Aide training course, the city's newest wartime service of the American Red Cross and Civilian Defense program.

Members of the class are Mrs. J. H. Walker, Mrs. Ruby Krohmer, Mrs. F. W. Holland, Mrs. James Rairdon, Mrs. Charles E. Sherer, Mrs. Harmon Peart, Mrs. S. W. Kuhner and Mrs. J. W. Moss.

The exercises culminated 35 hours of theory and examinations and 45 hours of practical work at the Marion City hospital under the direction of Miss Thelma Malo, R. N., assistant superintendent.

Class members will give 150 hours a year of service in hospitals or time of disaster, under the supervision of the hospital superintendent and nursing staff and will work in any capacity. Preceding the nurses aide course the women took the standard and advanced first aid course and the instruction course. Mrs. J. A. Dodd is chairman of the committee of Volunteer Nurses Aide.

Dr. Mouser Speaks

Miss Malo presented the class. The address for the evening was given by Dr. Harold K. Mouser, director of the medical division of the Civilian Defense Council. Ralph Carhart, county chairman of the Red Cross accepted the class on behalf of the Red Cross and Mrs. Mary Taylor, superintendent of the City hospital on behalf of the hospital.

In presenting the class Miss Malo outlined the study course followed and stated that all had passed with a high average. The members have been of great help to the hospital staff, she stated, and she praised their willingness and cooperativeness in doing anything that had been asked of them. "It has been a real pleasure to have the privilege of teaching the first group of Red Cross Volunteer Nurses Aides, and I feel that this class is now competent to take its place as one of the special services in the Red Cross organization," she said in presenting the class to Mr. Carhart.

Cites Value of Work

In his talk Dr. Mouser designated the work of maintaining the health of the civilian population as being equally important with front line service, and emphasized that the class members were helping to fill the places of professional nurses now being called into the armed forces. He warned against optimism regarding the war and predicted that an attempt would be made to bomb the central part of the United States. He deplored the lack of alertness on the part of the civilian population to this possibility and appealed to the audience to have a more cooperative attitude toward Civilian Defense. He congratulated the class, and assured

BYRNES CALLED IN TAX FIGHT

Conferees Want Opinion of Stabilization Director on Ruml Plan.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 22—James F. Byrnes, stabilization director, reportedly was being asked today to present the administration's viewpoint to senate and house conferees deadlocked on the pay-as-you-go tax question. The legislators are trying to ascertain what type of bill the President will sign.

The conferees planned to decide today whether to continue efforts for an agreement or abandon the conference. The senate adopted a modified Ruml plan bill abating a full year's taxes. The house rejected the Ruml idea and passed a bill abating about 75 per cent of a year's income tax liability.

A red flag warning against the administration's food subsidy program was hoisted in the house as is turned over to the senate a $6,273,629,000 lend-lease appropriations measure to finance this nation's share in the allied mutual aid program.

By roll call vote of 214 to 98, the house wrote into the lend lease bill an amendment to prevent use of any of the funds as subsidies in purchasing food to ship to other United Nations.

Just what effect the amendment might have on the lend-lease program remained uncertain, but the house left no doubt that any susidy program sent up to Capitol Hill in the future likely will run into rough treatment.

Expecting bitter fights ahead over the farm security administration and the crop insurance program, a senate agricultural appropriations committee sought to complete hearings on the annual farm money bill in record time.

DR. SAWYER VOTED WAR BOND TRIBUTE

Named County's "Man of Month" for April.

Dr. Carl W. Sawyer has been named Marion county's Man of the Month award for April by the Marion County War Bond committee, the state headquarters in Cleveland announced today.

For his activities as head of the speakers committee of the county war bond organization set up for the duration, Dr. Sawyer had an especially busy month in April, being called on to fill many assignments personally as well as arrange for other speakers to appear, committee officials said.

He will receive a special "Minute Man" citation in recognition of his work not only in April but throughout the series of bond campaigns.

Harold H. Bredlow, executive secretary of the War Savings Staff for Ohio, also announced today that Mrs. Helen K. Ott of Mansfield has been selected as the outstanding April worker in a nine-county region that includes Marion, Crawford, Wyandot and Morrow counties. She will receive a medal and a war bond at a dinner to be held May 26 in Akron, arranged for the state war bond committee by the Standard Oil Co. of Ohio. Mrs. Ott won recognition for her work among women's groups.

Summit county was selected as the state's champion war bond county for April, having sold $3,312,681 in bonds that month.

Ohio sales for April totaled $37,470,762.

OTHER PLANES SINK 2 SHIPS OF 5 IN CONVOY

Attack Follows U. S. Fortress Raid on Big German Submarine Bases.

LONDON, May 22 — Britain's new and speedy Mosquito bombers returned again to Berlin last night to blast targets in the Reich capital for the third successive night.

Other British planes laid mines in enemy waters overnight while Mosquito intruders attacked railway targets in France and Whirlwinds sank two ships out of a five-ship convoy off the French coast.

The after-dark attacks followed up yesterday's daylight raids by American Flying Fortresses on important sources of German U-boat strength at Wilhelmshaven and Emden and carried into the ninth night the aerial offensive which many sources expect to turn soon into a death-blow attack against Hitler's Europe.

The British reported five bombers and one fighter missing from the night's operations.

The German high command communique, as broadcast from Berlin, said "major damage was done to property in Wilhelmshaven and Emden" by the American bombing yesterday, but claimed 17 of the four-engined bombers were brought down by German fighters and naval antiaircraft.

Two Ships Sunk

It was announced officially that Whirlwind fighter-bombers sank the two enemy ships and damaged a third, a medium-sized motor vessel, in a convoy of five ships surprised off Cherbourg.

Mosquitoes, Beaufighters and Boston bombers struck [illegible] the French coast in wide intruder raids. Several trains were shot up. One plane failed to return, the air ministry said.

An air alarm aroused London shortly after midnight as the enemy struck weakly at the capital but apart from the noise of a furious barrage directed against a lone raider apparently nothing happened in the metropolitan area.

Nazi fighter-bombers flitted across the southeast coast on two occasions during the night. It was announced one raider was brought down and that bombs caused some damage and casualties.

The Eighth U. S. air force said yesterday's mid-day assaults on Emden and Wilhelmshaven, Germany's North sea naval bases, "were pressed home and a large weight of bombs" dropped "despite very strong enemy fighter opposition and intense flak."

12 Planes Lost

The four-engined heavy bombers flew unescorted and 12 failed to return. The communique said many enemy fighters were destroyed.

Returning fliers estimated that between 100 and 150 Nazi fighters swarmed around the Fortress formations over Wilhelmshaven, making the attack "the toughest yet—next to Bremen," raided April 17 at a cost of 16 bombers.

Meanwhile, these factors were among those pointing up a growing supposition that it may not be long before the beginning of an allied attempt to knock out Germany from the air, a program that Prime Minister Churchill said in Washington this week was worthy of experiment:

1. Beyond preparations for a renewed home-based offensive, unofficial observers in London could find no logical reason why the RAF should have kept its fleet of four-engine bombers grounded through more than a week of perfect raiding weather. RAF Britain-based air giants have not been out in force since the night of May 13.

2. Dedicating the first American-built air base in Britain, a $4,000,000 field named for the late Lieut. Gen. Frank M. Andrews, Lieut. Gen. Jacob L. Devers, Andrews' successor as commander of U. S. forces in Europe, declared that "from this and other airfields, bombers and fighters will darken the skies of enemy countries. That is no figure of speech. It is a fact based on production figures ***."

3. Air Minister Sir Archibald Sinclair, speaking yesterday at the opening of a bond selling campaign, asserted the allies were able to obtain a sufficient number of bombers to destroy "the sources of German war power."

4. Capt. Harold Balfour, undersecretary of state for air, said in a Norwich address today British bombers had dropped some 1,500 tons of bombs on German objectives twice this month and added that many more axis cities would be "ticked off" on a city-by-city bombing calendar.

OFFICERS NAMED BY BAPTIST CHURCH

Trinity Congregation Holds Annual Meeting.

Officers were chosen and reports of the various organizations and officers given at the annual business meeting of members of Trinity Baptist church Wednesday night. The treasurer's report showed all bills paid and a substantial balance in the treasury after $1,000 had been paid on parsonage repairs and approximately $700 paid on a loan.

The church recently purchased a $1,000 Victory bond and individual members have also given bonds amounting to $750. The total gifts for missions and benevolence amounted to $3,371.38, and this fund was over-subscribed in pledges for the coming year by 125 per cent. Members received into the church since the beginning of the present pastorate, a little over a year ago, is 102, with a loss during the year of 27 by death and transfer. The total membership is 386.

Officers elected are: church clerk, Mrs. Troy O. McClure; general treasurer, Lloyd Pickering; missionary treasurer, Frank Kette; financial secretary, Clyde Morehouse; Sunday school superintendent, R. A. Maxim; director of youth activities, Mrs. J. B. Holloway; director of children's work, Mrs C. M. Gorby; senior deacons, A. J. Tower, Henry Seiter, H. Clay Smith, E. O. Uncapher, C. M. Gorby and A. G. Spring; junior deacons, Delmar Brewer and Keith McMurray; trustees, Maxie Martin and H. M. Brewer; official board members-at-large, Frank Robinson, Gail Smith and Miss Florence Durfee; senior ushers, Roy Powelson, Lloyd Ledley, W. A. Myers, Donald Tower, Harold Smith, Fred Smith, Clyde Morehouse, Eugene Miller, Quentin Hinamon and Glenn Wymer; junior ushers, Delmar Brewer and Eugene Reasoner; music committee: Seibert Barzer, Mrs Lloyd Pickering, Mrs. Harold Smith and George Barnhard.

In recognition of the years of faithful service as church organist and as a member of the music committee, Miss Grace Durfee was elected a member emeritus of the music committee to serve at her pleasure for life. The auditing committee elected to serve for one year is composed of Ralph Epley, Warren Bull and Dail Gorman. The nominating committee, elected to serve in one, two and three year terms, is composed of Herbert Brewer, Mrs. F. H. LeMaster, A. G. Uncapher, Mrs. Gerald Roberts, E. O. Uncapher and Mrs. Ralph Wingett.

"Train up a child in the way he should go: and when he is old, he will not depart from it."—Prov. 22:6.

THIS old Testament text embodies the fundamental principle of a moral [illegible] throughout the centuries of human society. The idealism of mind and spirit conveyed to the youth of each generation is absolutely limitless in its effect. In fact, the power represented by such training or education, is capable of creating a changed "moral-pattern" in the life-time of each single generation. The founders of this American democracy sensed the potent influence of education in the development of their democratic ideals and insisted that a public school system be established which will reach every child living under the Flag. This public education program is considered so fundamental in the life of our democracy that our nation has made a capital investment of over six billion dollars in school buildings and equipment. It maintains this vast program at an annual expenditure of two and a half billion dollars in salaries and operating costs in order to train the children of the nation in the way they should go as good future citizens of our great democracy. This enormous public education system makes the nation. Its power is so great that it is capable of changing the national ideals within the life-time of a generation. Therefore, it becomes a matter of vital importance to all, what kind of ideals are taught in the public schools of our land.

The early American public schools, as conceived by our nation's founders, were distinctly religious schools. The curriculum of those early schools was permeated with moral and religious material. In fact, the early American public schools from colonial days to the Civil war had a high moral and religious tone and turned out men and women who lived right and made our nation great, and as good as it was great. But shortly after the Civil war, in the 1870's, the teaching of religion, and the use of the Bible, very generally was excluded from the public schools of the nation. Just how the change came about is too long a story to be related here. Suffice it to say that the Bible and religious instruction did not leave the schools by any deliberate will of the people. Fear of sectarian conflict, denominational jealousies, and subtle alien influences created the atmosphere in which secular and irreligious influences quietly crowded out the Bible and its teaching amidst an atmosphere of general public indifference. Thus, for the past 70 years the American public schools have been completely secularized, the Bible and religious instruction has been excluded from its curriculum, and a decided change in the moral trend of our nation becomes apparent.

HORACE MANN, the great early American educator, always insisted that if religious instruction is excluded from the public schools, national religion will suffer and national crime will flourish. What has been the record of these seventy years in which there has been practically no religious teaching in the nations' public school system? Let us look at the record during these years. First—There has been a tremendous growth in crime. Statistics reveal an 80 per cent increase in crime in the past 40 years. But the most disheartening phase of this sad criminal situation of recent years is the phenominal increase in youthful criminals. Chief Justice Dunn, recently said, "Half the defendants coming into our criminal courts are teen-aged youths.' The condition existing is well stated by a special committee of the American Bar association appointed to study the crime situation in 1922. We quote from their report, "In major crimes this country is now the most lawless civilized nation on the globe, and the condition has been growing worse since 1890." We know that the crime situation has steadily grown worse since 1922. Is it a mere coincidence that crime began to increase since 1890, just about the time the first generation of public school children, who received no religious teaching in the schools, became mature citizens of the nation?

Second — Religious statistics show that during the period from 1850 to 1870, when the Bible was a part of the school curriculum and religion was taught in the schoolroom, church membership in America increased 29 per cent while the population gain for the period was 66 per cent. The churches were on a triumphal march, gaining steadily on the population, so that it seemed that that at no distant date the nation would be won for God. But since 1880 that march has slowed down until now, in 1940, the growth of population exceeds the growth of the church membership by .3 of one per cent. This dire calamity is due largely to the fact that by omitting faith in God from the program of our public schools, we have conveyed a strong negative suggestion to the children and youth of the nation which tends to nullify the place and worthwhileness of the Christian church and God. To continue in this direction is to imperil the future of American democracy.

America is a Christian nation. It was so conceived and founded by our brave forefathers, who risked their lives for the ideals of democratic government. In reality of democracy is merely the political organization which stands for the ideals of life which Christianity brought into being as religion, therefore, a democratic government is the Christian religion expressing itself in civic relationships. Since this is a Christian nation the Bible and religion have every right to a place in the curriculum of our public schools. In fact, not to teach religion in the schools is to undertake the impossible task of atempting to perpetuate and advance a culture — the American Way of Life — without informing our citizens as to the faith in God which has inspired and sustained that culture. The dangers involved in teaching religion in our public school system is insignificant as compared to the catastrophe of not doing so. While we have been safeguarding our schools against sectarianism by excluding religion, we now find that, the wolfs of atheism and secularism have slyly been driving off the lambs of the nation, so that in 1940 there were between 35 and 40 million citizens in the nation who have never received any religious teaching either through the schools or the churches of the land. Such a vast group of irreligious people become a hotbed for all kinds of athiestic teachings which threaten the security of the American Way of Life.

TODAY, we are sending our fighting forces to the far corners of the globe to fight for the perpetuation of our way of life. We strain every sinew of industry to make that way of life safe for citizens of our nation and of the world. But, unless we restore to the public schools the teaching of the great doctrines of religion, the existence and attributes and providence of Almighty God; the responsibilities of our citizens to Him for all their actions, founded upon moral freedom and accountability, the future state of rewards and punishment, the cultivation of personal, social and benevolent virtues, we shall lose "Our American Way of Life" on the home front, while fighting to preserve it in the far flung battle fields of the world. It becomes imperative that America train up its youth in the way they should go, lest they depart from it and drag our nation and the civilization of the world to destruction. The organized Christian forces of the nation are becoming aware of this imperative danger, and are rapidly taking steps to restore religion to the curriculum of our public schools. Each year increasing numbers of American cities and smaller communities are rallying to the need of providing funds and personel to teach the fundamental concepts of the Christian religion in the classrooms of their public schools. Our fair Christian city of Marion needs to rally to this cause for the welfare of our children. To do so requires the united cooperation of all our churches and of all the Christian citizens. May we put this worthwhile propect into operation in our city so that the children of Marion may be trained in the way they should go: so that when they become men and women, they shall not depart from the Christian faith which has made our nation great, and given us that noble American Way of Life.

To Discuss Week-Day Religious Education

A meeting calling all ministers of Marion to discuss establishment of week-day religious education in the city schools will be held in the Y. M. C. A. Monday at 4 p. m. A group of ministers interested in the project have appointed Rev. J. A. Carriker of Forest Lawn Presbyterian church chairman for the meeting. Expressions of attitudes toward the proposed step for introducing religious instruction into schools in the fall will be considered.

Sunday Program Completed For Kellogg Recital

MRS EARL N HALE and Miss Dorothy Gail Stephenson will be heard in vocal groups and Mrs. Harold K. Mouser will be the accompanist when Arthur Kellogg, composer and musician, is presented in a recital sponsored by the [illegible] club Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the ballroom at Hotel Harding. Mr. Kellogg will play a program of piano and violin numbers, most of which will be his own composition. Mr. Kellogg, who is blind, made his home in Columbus before coming to Marion a few years ago. Tickets for the program which is open to the public, are 50 cents and may be obtained at the hotel Sunday afternoon.

Mr. Kellogg will open the program with a piano group of his own composition, "Ballad of a Summer Day," "By the Brook" and "Serenade," after which Miss Stephenson will sing three of his numbers, "Teach Me the Right Way to Live," "Mother o' Mine" and "Love's Sweetest Song." Mr. Kellogg's violin numbers will be "For All Eternity," Mascheroni and "The Angel's Serenade," Braga, and Mrs. Hale will sing "Sheila," "Lullaby," "If I Knew," and "Break, Break," by Mr. Kellogg. "Bittersweet" and "Gavotte Dohesse," composed by Mr. Kellogg, will be played by him to close the program.

MINERS

Leaders of the United Automobile workers (CIO) and the regional WLB at Detroit conferred with army and navy officers yesterday, then ordered the workers back to their jobs. Principal issue in the dispute is renewal of a working contract that expired last November. Union leaders maintain that collective bargaining has "completely broken down," a contention denied by company officials.

However, a work stoppage at the Bethlehem Steel company's Steelton plant near Harrisburg, Pa., spread from a rolling mill to several other departments last night, and George Medrick, district chairman of the United Steel Workers (CIO) described the walkout as a "wildcat strike."

• • •

BELLAIRE, O., May 22—Approximately 2,500 Ohio coal miners who refused to work in four federally-operated shafts without a new contract were called on to decide at meetings tomorrow whether to return to the pits.

Adolph Pacifico, vice president of district 6, United Mine Workers, said the men would vote on pleas of union leaders to return to work under the 15-day extension period for contract negotiations. Meetings were scheduled at each mine.

Club Federation Annual Meeting Set for Tuesday

FOLLOWING an annual custom members of the retiring and incoming executive boards and members of the Marion County Federation of Women's clubs will meet for dinner and to hear the annual reports of the federation activities, Tuesday evening. The meeting will be held in the recreational room of the First Presbyterian church.

Mrs. Carl W. Sawyer, who served as president last year and will continue as head of the federation for the 1943-44 season, will preside. Tentative plans will be discussed for the next season.

The dinner will be at 6 o'clock, Miss Ann Mereness, chairman, announces.

Ration Stamps To Be Used for Canning Sugar

WASHINGTON, May 22—Starting next Monday, stamps No. 15 and 16 in ration book one will be good for five pounds of sugar each for home canning.

The office of price administration abandoned a previously-announced program under which home canners would have applied to local ration boards for sugar allotments.

The sugar-for-canning provision does not interfere with the regular sugar rationing program, OPA said.

Community Fund To Hold Annual Meeting

The annual meeting of the Marion Community Foundation, Inc., will be held Monday night at 8 o'clock at the Y. M. C. A. J. E. Oliphant will preside.

Agencies comprising the foundation, the Salvation Army, Y. M. C. A., Boy Scouts, Girl Scouts and Girl Reserves, will give their annual reports, along with officers of the foundation.

All contributors to the annual financial drive made by the foundation are invited to attend the meeting.

ENTERS HOSPITAL

Miss McCullough, Pvt. Sanderson Exchange Vows

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. McCullough of 273 Clover avenue are announcing the marriage of their daughter, Joyce, to Pfc. Everett Sanderson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Sanderson of 273 East Fairground street Thursday evening at an open church ceremony at Prospect Street Methodist church.

Rev. Henry Maag read the double ring ceremony, and the bride was given in marriage by her father. Mrs. Robert Rice at the organ played "Indian Love Call" and "I Love You Truly."

Miss Josephine Caserta and Staff Sgt. Orville Kempton of Prospect were attendants.

The bride wore a corsage of white roses on a dark blue two-piece sheer suit trimmed in lace. Her only jewelry was a double strand of pearls, a gift of the bridegroom. Miss Caserta was attired in a light blue two-piece sheer suit and wore a corsage of pink roses.

The bride's mother wore a black ensemble and a corsage of red roses. Mrs. Sanderson chose a dusty rose print dress and wore pink and yellow tea roses.

Sixty close friends and relatives were present at a reception following the ceremony at the home of the bride's parents.

The new Mrs. Sanderson is employed at the Fairfield Engineering Co., and is a graduate of Harding High school in the class of '42. Pfc. Sanderson is a graduate of Harding High school in the class of '39. The couple will return from a short wedding trip May 23, after which Pfc. Sanderson will return to Camp Breckinridge, Ky., where he is stationed. Mrs. Sanderson will continue working.

PRODUCTION PARTIALLY RESUMED BY CHRYSLER

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, May 22—Limited production was restored in some of the six strike-affected war plants of Chrysler Corp. here today, but a corporation spokesman estimated the working force on day shifts was only a little more than 2,000 out of a normal personnel of 14,000.

Orders of the regional war labor board for an "immediate resumption of work" by striking members of the United Automobile Workers (CIO) brought moves toward compliance from two of three local unions involved.

SILENCE ON RED FRONT PRELUDE TO BIG DRIVE

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, May 22 — An ominous silence prevailed along the Russian front today with evidence pointing to the approaching zero hour for the long-expected German offensive.

On the German side of the front, the invaders continued to pile up stores of ammunition, tanks and men for the summer push that may come almost any time.

HEALTH GROUP ELECTS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 22—Dr. Charles A. Doan, professor of medical research at Ohio State university, was elected president of the Ohio Public Health association at its annual conference here last night.

NURSES AIDES

"We know your willingness and your ability and I know of nothing that will give you the pleasure of serving others in this capacity," Mrs. Taylor said in welcoming the class. She spoke briefly of the strain placed on the hospital due to nurses entering the armed forces and going into industry, and expressed her appreciation of the help of the aides.

As Miss Geraldine Hord called the roll the class members were capped by Mrs. Dodd and received their pins from Mrs. Wilbur Symes. This was followed by the volunteer service pledge by the class. The invocation and benediction were spoken by Rev. S. S. Hardy, rector of St. Paul's Episcopal church, and the audience sang "The Star Spangled Banner" and "America," and gave the pledge of allegiance to the Flag.

Take Part in Program

Mrs. Harold K. Mouser presided at the piano. For the processional she played "Angels of Mercy," by Irving Berlin. Preceding the class in the processional were the following heads and representatives of the Red Cross and Civilian Defense, Mrs. Robert J. LaMarche, motor corps, Mrs. Frederick Rea, home service, Miss Ruth Kleinmaier, canteen, Miss Florence Mahaffey, staff assistance, Mrs. T. E Sonnanstine, grey ladies, Mrs. Paul Knauss, production. Miss Dorothy Althouse, Civilian Defense ambulance corps, Lt. Helen M. Alkire and Cpl. Mary M. Beltz, WAAC, Miss Lillian Plack, secretary of the Marion County Chapter of the Red Cross, Mrs Symes, Mr. Carhart, Mrs. Taylor, Mrs Dodd, Dr. Mouser, Miss Malo and Rev. Hardy. Mrs. George DeWolfe led the procession, and leader for the class was Mrs. Francis B. Huber. Ushers were Mrs. Ray R. King, Mrs. Huber and Mrs. T. E. Sonnanstine.

Following the exercises there was a social hour. Miss Plack and Miss Hord presided at the table decorated with an arrangement of yellow tulips, bridal wreath and greenery. Baskets of lilacs, tulips and other spring bloom decorated the ballroom and American and Red Cross flags occupied places of prominence.

Serving on the committee with Mrs. Dodd are Mrs. Symes, co-chairman, Miss Geraldine Hord, Mrs Dan LaMarche, Mrs. David W. Evans, Mrs. King, Mrs. J. Malcolm Strelitz, Mrs. Mouser, Mrs. Dan LaMarche, Mrs. Taylor, Miss Malo, Miss Naomi Williams, Mrs. Alice Kraft, Dr. Mouser and Dr. J. A. McNamara.

A second class will be organized as soon as possible, Mrs. Dodd said today. This class will be sponsored by the Marion Altrusa club, of which Miss Mary Margaret O'Donnell is president. Application for registration in the class, which has been designated as a business women's group and will meet in the evening, may be obtained from Mrs. Dodd or at the office of the Marion County Red Cross.

"An Open Letter To the June Bride"

Monday

Dearest Jane.

You are in my thoughts a great deal these days and my calendar suddenly reminds me how shockingly soon is the "great day," and how many dozens of little things will yet require your attention.

When you come home this week-end I want you to be sure and order your wedding invitations and announcements. I was looking over the albums of engraved and process engraved samples at WIANT'S Book Store and they have really an excellent selection to choose from. You know they have a new bridal size invitation which does not require folding and I liked the "bridal ivory" . . . it seemed so different from the usual "bridal white." You should place your order for engraving early because of these war deliveries . . . it takes longer now.

I have so many things to "chin" over with you so try and make it Friday evening if you can get away.

Lovingly,
HELEN

LANDSCAPING UNDER WAY AT COURTHOUSE

Work Expected To Be Completed Next Week.

Landscape work at the courthouse, which got under way last week, is expected to be completed early next week, weather permitting.

Excavation of stone and clay was completed several days ago and workmen yesterday finished placing a six-inch layer of top soil in all sections of the esplanade, where the former flagstone covering was removed.

The work is being done by a crew of workmen under the direction of Merley E. Sipes of south of Marion. Mr. Sipes informed the county commissioners yesterday that grass seed would be sowed as soon as weather will permit.

A board of the county commissioners said plans call for planting shrubbery later on.

MARYSVILLE MAN MINING TUNGSTEN

Special to The Star

MARYSVILLE, May 22—Roscoe Connelly, 33, Marysville contractor, is opening a mine for obtaining tungsten at Shoshoni, Wyoming, and expects to come in contact with the rare metal soon. Report of his activity was brought back to Marysville by Max Amrine of this city, who drove one of Mr. Connelly's dump trucks out to him last week.

Tungsten is badly needed in the war effort. The greater part of the supply for the United States was obtained from China and has been cut off. So urgent is the need for the metal that the government is building a road 18 miles long to the prospective mine.

Mr. Connelly became interested in the mine when he became prospector last year after he had gone west to investigate sulphur mines. In his tours of the mountains he came across "Kid" Wilson, an old prospector of that section who had samples of what turned out to be tungsten after Mr. Connelly had them analyzed.

Mr. Connelly came back to Marysville but had visions of mining tungsten. He finally caused H. W. Way, Delaware manufacturer, to become interested in the project. Following a trip by air to the scene of the proposed mine, Mr. Connelly, Mr. Wilson and Mr. Way formed a company.

Mining operations started this spring. The scene is about 10 feet from the top of a 7,000 feet high mountain.

CALLED TO DUTY

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 22—The Columbus district office of officer procurement announced Major Walter L. Collins, director of instruction in the state department of education, had been ordered to active duty in the provost marshal general's branch of the Army.

Make It LAST!

Your Refrigerator

By GLADYS DEGNER

Associated Press Writer

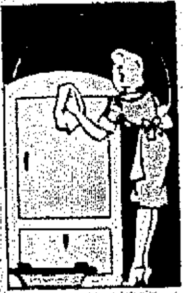
That refrigerator you might have bought won't be yours for a while! The machines, metals, factories and labor that would have made it are now producing tanks, guns and engines necessary to freeze out the Axis.

That, Mrs. Housewife, is why you must make your old refrigerator last. Every saving, whether it's in the life of your refrigerator, in the fuel or energy used for operating it, or in the food you store, contributes to victory.

The best spot for your refrigerator is the coolest one — away from the sun, oven, radiators and steam pipes. Be sure it stands level and firm, with a space of at least 2½ inches in back and 8 to 12 inches at the top for the air to circulate and carry away the heat from the mechanical unit.

To save food, fuel and wear and tear on the machinery, keep the temperature no colder than 40 degrees and no warmer than 50. The way to do this is by not opening the door more than necessary.

No one need tell you a sure way of ruining the ice trays is to have the ice pick habit. You can make the removal of trays easy by not filling them to the brim. Water expands when it's frozen. Just as important — defrost regularly, before the ice is a quarter inch thick on the freezing unit.



Do a thorough cleaning job after each defrosting. Wash every part with warm water and soda. Rince with a cloth wrung from clean water, and wipe each part dry. Mild soapsuds—never harsh soaps or scratchy cleaners — should take care of the outside daily. Wipe up all spilled foods at once, as they might stain the finish. Guard the rubber seal around the door from grease, dirt and spilled foods.

Some refrigerators need oiling; others don't. Follow the manufacturer's instructions, and always call the service man in case of trouble or need for repairs.

OHIO FLIER KILLED

By The Associated Press

FORT MYERS, Fla., May 22—Second Lieut. Owen Hargus Anderson, whose next of kin was given as a brother-in-law, Nelson Rupp, of Sandusky, O., was one of two Army men killed in a plane crash Thursday while returning from a routine flight over the Gulf of Mexico, the public relation office announced. Anderson was the pilot.

GUILTY OF MURDER

JACKSON, O., May 22—Russell Wills, 22, of nearby Ray, was convicted of first degree murder last night in the shooting of 71-year-old George Borland during a holdup last March 20. The common pleas court jury recommended mercy. Sentence was deferred pending possible motion for a new trial.

HARDING HIGH "QUIVER" FOR 1943 DISTRIBUTED

Victory Theme Featured in School Annual.

The "Quiver," annual publication of Harding High school, was issued to some 770 student subscribers at the school Friday.

This year's "Quiver" has a victory theme and every department of the year book has a war angle. The cover keynotes the patriotic theme with a big V and the victory signal, three dots and a dash. The cover as well as all color pages of the annual are in appropriate red, white, and blue.

The "Quiver" this year is dedicated to E. E. Holt, city superintendent of schools. The usual departments of the year book are presented in the 1943 edition with addition of a few new features, results of the school year in war time.

Editor of the 1943 "Quiver" is Virginia Stuckey, a senior this year. Assistant editor is another senior, Helen Rengert. Marion Wiant and Ronald Stalter, both seniors, headed the business and advertising departments, respectively. George Brown, one of this year's graduates, handled most of the photography in the annual. However, the senior pictures were taken as usual by Dale Hughes, Marion photographer. Miss Marian Conley, English II and IV teacher, is the faculty advisor of the "Quiver."

Davis Doubts Story of Yamamoto's Death

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, May 22—Elmer Davis, director of war information, says that perhaps Admiral Yamamoto, reported by Tokyo to have died in air combat, "was bumped off by some of the rest of the mob—as has happened to high officers in Germany and Italy."

Davis, in his weekly radio address last night, said "the Japanese navy was none too brilliantly handled in the latter half of 1942, so his colleagues may have decided he had outlived his usefulness and that they could cover up his murder by giving him a great publicity build-up as a hero."

Marriage licenses have been issued in probate court to John Stine of Wayne, Mich., construction worker, and Lois Obenour of Marion, cashier; Everett M. Sanderson of Marion, soldier, and Joyce McCullough of Marion, stenographer; Faye L. Alkire of Marion, soldier, and LaVonne Sheaks of Marion.

Building Permits for Aronhalt Lot Project Issued

One of the final legal preliminaries for Marion's newest housing project, expected to be the last one of any size for the duration of the war, was completed this week when building permits were issued for 23 two-family apartment houses on the Aronhalt lot on North Prospect street and Oak street.

The permits were issued to H. J. Trautman of Columbus. The permits list the estimated cost of each double unit at $4,500 and specify brick construction, asphalt shingle roofs and varying designs for the roofs and fronts. Fourteen of them will face Oak street, nine will face Prospect street. The Aronhalt lot has been platted as the Rosemary Addition to the city.

The Universal Housing Co., developing a housing project north of the Universal Cooler Corp. plant, has taken out two more permits to finish the series of houses it is building on Fish avenue. These double houses are estimated to cost $4,500 each.

Italy Today Celebrates Anniversary of Pact

By The Associated Press

LONDON, May 22—Italy observed today with a minimum of ceremony the fourth anniversary of her costliest bargain—the signing of a pact with Germany.

Benito Mussolini looked to his inadequately guarded skies and his menaced coastline in an anxious calculation of a yet unpaid balance amid the heightening havoc of the allies' aerial onslaught, and summoned the chiefs of his civil departments to receive whatever consolation he can find in reports of the newest preparations against invasion.

Chinese Kill 700 Japs Along Salween River

CHUNGKING, May 22 — More than 700 Japanese troops have been killed in an abortive attack northward from Tengyueh, the Japanese advance base west of the Salween river, the Chinese central news agency reported today.

JAP PLANES SHOT DOWN

NEW DELHI, May 22—U. S. medium bombers shot down five, possibly eight, Japanese fighter planes yesterday and damaged six more after a sharp bombing attack on enemy workshops at Chauk in central Burma during which a number of buildings were destroyed, a U. S. army air force communique said today.

New Building Substitutes Reduce Need for Materials Vital to War

The extent of savings being made in the use of critical materials in the war housing program is shown in a recent survey made by the National Housing Agency.

Research by the Federal Public Housing Authority of the NHA and the Bureau of Standards has resulted in constantly increasing use of noncritical materials, NHA reported.

This is best illustrated by the fact that only about 2,700 pounds of critical materials are now being used in the average permanent war housing unit built by the FPHA, as compared with 9,700 pounds used in peacetime building. In the case of temporary war housing units, only 2,000 pounds of critical materials are being used.

The largest single item of saving was made when showers were substituted for bathtubs in all war housing units now being built. In contrast to the bathtubs, which ranged in weight from 350 to 450 pounds, showers are limited under a War Production Board limitation order to 24 pounds of critical metal. In some instances, changes in design and the use of plastics have cut the use of metal in showers to two pounds.

Sheet Metal Replaced

Sheet metal has been replaced almost entirely by wood and other substitutes, such as felt for flashings. Wood eaves, gutters, and downspouts are generally used on two-story buildings and eliminated on one-story structures.

Full-sized copper-mesh screens are out for the duration. In their stead are used half-sized screens of steel mesh. Mineral products are coming more and more into use to replace steel, notably gypsum for metal laths and accessories.

Bronze and brass building hardware have been replaced by iron, annealed glass, and plastics. Water faucets are now iron. The only brass used is for the valve stem and valve seat, the parts which are in contact to water and consequently subject to corrosion. Door knobs are of glass, and escutcheons are manufactured from plastics.

Clay products wash basins and lavatory bowls are replacing those of metal. Laundry tubs are of the same material, as are kitchen sinks. Plastic stoppers are being used in place of rubber.

Tile piping is used in making connection with street sewers and has proven an efficient substitute for cast iron in this capacity.

Victory Pipe

Victory cast-iron piping is being used. This substitute has 30 per cent less weight than the peace-time material and has proven to be adequate to every strain to which it may be subjected.

These are just a few of the methods now in use by builders in an effort to cut down on the use of critical materials and at the same time provide the housing accommodations needed by war industry workers. Other substitutes are being developed, and in nearly every instance they are proving themselves equal to, if not superior, to the materials that have been replaced.

SATURDAY, MAY 22, 1943

The Seventh Day

THE practice of working on Sunday already had been made so familiar by wartime factory production schedules that its spread to residential neighborhoods seems to be having no special repercussions of indignation.

The fact is that most employed persons these days, whether they must work on Sunday or not at their regular jobs, have only one day—and sometimes not even that—to perform household chores. In most cases where Sunday is the day off, this means a full day of activity.

Motoring, formerly the favorite Sunday pastime, is out for the duration. So is a good deal of the golfing and visiting that formerly were so important in Sunday schedules. Even without long work weeks, Sunday would have been the weekly climax of household choredoing.

The effect on church attendance may be unexpectedly good, however. Those who have taken to heart the Biblical admonition to remember the Sabbath and keep it holy will feel better about hoeing weeds in their garden if they have made a prior concession to the traditional spirit of the day. Perhaps many of those who have been careless about the day of rest and meditation will find that they need an interruption between their morning chores and those they have outlined for the afternoon.

Discretionary Boosting

RESTORATION of the war labor board's authority to "adjust" wages breaches the "hold the line" policy laid down by President Roosevelt more than a month ago. There are explosive possibilities in discretionary wage boosting, if that is what the new move in Washington means.

Every wage earner in the United States and just about every person on salary has a theoretic claim on an adjustment of his earning power. Some millions of white collar workers who are holding important jobs, yet have never shared in war boom earnings, are being squeezed to death between their fixed income and rising taxes and prices.

Every dependent of a man in service is wondering from day to day what is going to be the outcome of a situation that makes it necessary for them to eke out a livelihood on fixed allowances that only barely covered subsistence living costs before prices began to soar. Service men wonder, too.

Thousands of public employes on fixed salaries, thousands—hundreds of thousands—of citizens with minor executive jobs, and all the hordes of small businessmen and professional men whose stabilized incomes have been financing the inflationary joy ride taken by the direct beneficiaries of the war boom naturally look with suspicion upon every further move in Washington to compromise with creeping inflation. They wanted to believe a month ago that President Roosevelt meant what he said when he talked about "holding the line." It was their only chance. They have tried and they will keep trying to make sense out of policies that promise to prevent inflation with one hand while ladling out ever-higher wages with the other hand to those who can reach the top with their demands for ever-higher wages. They are patient, but they will not be patient forever. Ultimately, the Roosevelt administration must decide what it really wants to do about inflation. It can't have it both ways indefinitely.

Washington Worries Too Much

LATEST official preoccupation in Washington is the optimism of the common, or garden, variety of citizen. This hopeful patriot is being warned solemnly not to get too hopeful because the war is far from won.

This must be the follow-up on that famous official worry of a year or so ago about the ordinary people not taking the war seriously enough. It makes just as much—or as little—sense.

Washington worries too much about things it doesn't understand. When the capital became a full-fledged madhouse, it couldn't understand why the folks at the crossroads weren't going crazy, too; it concluded they must not be taking the war seriously.

Of course they were taking it seriously, and they saved Washington from the consequences of its hysteria by refusing to accept hysteria as a substitute for action. The people knuckled down and produced war goods, often in spite of obstacles erected by their confused officials. They did what needed to be done, with the result that the tide of war turned in America's favor.

Certainly Americans are optimistic. If we weren't optimistic we'd have folded up the day after Pearl Harbor and lost the war, which was what the Axis expected us to do. But when official critics begin to talk about over-optimism, they are generalizing about something they must have detected within themselves. Out where the people live and the war material and the manpower are produced there's no over-optimism, just a quiet, unruffled conviction that the right side is going to win the war and is making good progress. That's the way it should be. It's one of the main reasons the Axis is losing. Its people know down deep in their hearts that they can't win. Their officials, no doubt, are criticizing them for being under-optimistic.

Today and Tomorrow

Serious Faults Found in Senator Chandler's Speech About War Strategy.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

A CAREFUL reading of Senator Chandler's speech will leave no ground for thinking that he has the confidence of our highest military commanders. It is no doubt true, indeed it is evident, that Senator Chandler had heard and was repeating odds and ends of military gossip and theorizing. But his views are such a mixture of truths, half-truths and misinformation that they cannot be the views of men who are really responsible for the overall strategic decisions.

Thus we find him agreeing that if Gen. Chennault were given 500 planes "he could drive the Japs out of China." Five minutes later we find him saying "until we reconquer Burma we shall not be able to drive the Japanese out of China." It is plain from these two statements that the senator has heard the echoes of two sides of a serious argument among American military men—between the exponents of air power and of the infantry—which it is the business of this conference to reconcile and decide.

We find him saying also that there is "a British army of 2,000,000 in India ... being held off from Burma by about 60,000 Japanese" but this statement cannot come from a competent professional soldier. For it implies that there is a land front on which the British Indian army can fight the Japanese army. There is no such land front.

Problem of Naval Power

The fact of the matter is that Burma is to India about what Alaska and the Aleutian Islands are to the United States. Burma has to be reached by sea.

Since no competent soldier could possibly think that Burma can be reconquered over land, the problem is obviously one of naval power and of shipping. Assume, then, that we might find the necessary transports and cargo ships for this seaborne invasion of Burma.

Who would supply the naval ships to protect them? Is Senator Chandler proposing to send an American naval force into the Indian ocean, a force made up by taking naval ships away from Nimitz and Halsey? Or is he counting on a British fleet in the Indian Ocean, and if so, until the Axis is out of the Mediterranean and the Italian Navy eliminated, how does he suppose such a fleet can be constituted?

The other half of Senator Chandler's argument is that "We have literally forged a ring of steel around the German Army and its government" and we can now give "Great Britain and the Soviet Union the necessary support to keep them going" while we mount a major offensive against Japan.

But when you inquire as to where this major offensive is to be mounted, and how, you find that it is to be mounted by the British from India and by the Russians in Siberia. For Senator Chandler seems to have no illusions that Japan can be defeated decisively from any of the bases where American forces are concentrated from Australia, Guadalcanal, Hawaii or Alaska.

Thus in fact the senator is asking not only that we halt our own offensive in Europe but that the British and the Russians should also halt theirs.

If the senator saw 200 German divisions in the Mississippi Valley, or if he saw the German land, sea and air power 20 miles from the Atlantic coast, he would understand better how our Allies feel. He would certainly not say so easily that we have forged a ring of steel around the German Army if he happened to live in Leningrad, Moscow, or even London.

Is it not self-evident that the quickest and surest way to get the allies we must have in Asia is to help disengage them in Europe?

The trouble with the kind of argument that Senator Chandler has started is that to expose its fallacies may in itself lead to a false conclusion. It would be a very false conclusion, for example, to suppose that the alternative to the Chandler argument is to do nothing. Quite the contrary.

Our power is growing so rapidly on the sea and in the air that there is no good reason why the important Pacific theaters cannot be heavily reinforced. And certainly no reason why plans cannot be drawn and the preparations advanced and the directing commanders chosen for the great converging offensives which will be undertaken.

Can Hitler Hold Europe?

Frederick the Great Did; but How About Napoleon?

Associated Press Features

CAN HITLER hole up in his European fortress and beat off the combined efforts of the United States, Russia and Great Britain to dislodge him?

History says he can. Frederick the Great performed a similar feat in the Seven Years War from 1756 to 1763. Solving many problems Hitler is now facing, he held off Russia, Austria, France, Sicily, Spain—and fought the war to a stalemate.

Frederick, a dilettante turned militarist, had Britain as an ally, however.

Before the Seven Years War, he had fought and won the war of the Austrian Succession, taking the territory of Silesia from Queen Maria Theresa's Austria. That war lasted from 1740 to 1748, and he had the help of France and Spain in winning it.

The French gained nothing, however, and were persuaded by Maria Theresa to join an alliance with the Austrians and Russians. Frederick — from whom Hitler may have got his inspiration—then claimed he was being "encircled," and without declaring war seized Saxony and then marched into Bohemia.

His enemies moved on all sides. The Russians crashed into East Prussia. The French came at him from the west. The Swedes also marched into northern Brandenburg from Pomerania. The Austrians poured back into Silesia. Frederick was ringed by enemies—and his troops were greatly outnumbered.

From one front to another he raced his army. He met the French in central Germany and defeated them so mercilessly their general could not estimate the number of killed or captured. Then he sped to Silesia, met the Austrians—and took a third of their army captive.

While beating back his foes, however, Frederick was being seriously drained of manpower, for the British help consisted mainly of money. He then adopted many practices Hitler has been forced to copy.

He made use of recruits from hostile countries, as Hitler has done in what he calls his "holy war" against Russia.

He used propaganda to break down morale among enemy troops and offered amnesty to deserters.

He enrolled prisoners of war to join his fight.

For five years Frederick held on in Silesia. Then Tsarina Elizabeth of Russia died and was succeeded by Peter III, an admirer of Frederick and, incidentally, a mad man. The Russian troops, which had occupied East Prussia, suddenly switched to Prussia's side. The Austrians soon tired and, despite Spain's entry into the war, agreed to peace. And Frederick kept Silesia—the territory over which the war had been fought.

What Frederick did, Hitler may also do. But if Hitler has faith in history repeating, there is also the story of Napoleon. . . .

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Monday, May 22, 1933.

The United States, through its spokesman, Norman H. Davis, outlined its foreign war policy at a disarmament conference in Geneva, stating that she would consult with them when peace is menaced and if she agrees with them as to the identity of the aggressors, she will refrain from any action of a nature to hinder the collective efforts to restore peace. This was taken as an indication that America was abandoning her traditional policy of isolation.

More than 100 men launched a Marion Y. M. C. A.-Boy Scout fund campaign, seeking $13,850 to finance those organizations for a year.

Mayor W. C. Phillians announced he would be a candidate for a second term.

Mrs. Daisy Knowles Kennedy, 52, died at her home on East Church street.

A roof fire at the home of D. A. Robinson on Avondale avenue caused nearly $200 damage.

James J. O'Keefe, 76, died at his home on Olney avenue.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. Kelley R. Vance of Uhler avenue.

Mrs. Mabel Owens of Vernon Heights boulevard returned from an extended visit in Tucson and Phoenix, Ariz.

Miss Louise Foreman was hostess to the Three D's club at her home on Park boulevard.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Tuesday, May 22, 1923

Dr. Rene Sand of Belgium, secretary general of the International Red Cross, visited Washington and in an interview predicted that all European nations would make overtures within five years for repayment of the American war loans.

King George named Chancellor of the Exchequer Stanley Baldwin premier of England to succeed Andrew Bonar Law, who had resigned because of illness.

H. S. McCoy resigned as superintendent of LaRue schools to accept a position in Springfield and E. D. Maurice, assistant superintendent, was named to fill the vacancy.

Byron E. Wilson, vice president of the Marion school board, announced that the schools faced a serious financial problem with prospects of a deficit of more than $25,000 the following year.

Muriel McMurray celebrated her seventh birthday anniversary by entertaining a company of children at the home of her parents Dr. and Mrs. J. W. McMurray on Windsor street.

Bombed Nazi Dams Small

United States Has 28 Larger Reservoirs.

AT LEAST 28 dams in the United States top the water storage capacity of the Mohne and Eder valley barriers destroyed by British bombers, says the National Geographic society.

The German dams are midgets compared to our largest. Eder backed up water for 17 miles; Mohne for 10 miles. Combined storage was a third of a billion tons.

Boulder dam on the Colorado river creates 115-mile-long Lake Mead with 125 times the capacity of both German reservoirs. Grand Coulee's lakes has 37 times the capacity.

The Mohne and Eder dams might be classed, in storage capacity, with New York's Kensico and New Croton dams; with the Shannon Dam on the Baker river in Washington and California's Diablo on the Skagit.

On the other hand the broken Eder dam stored nearly four times the water of Conemaugh dam that broke in 1889 causing the Johnstown flood, with the loss of 2,200 lives and $12,000,000 worth of property. The smaller Mohne dam stored nearly three times that of Conemaugh.

A reasonable comparison of the possible damage by the broken Mohne valley dam to such Ruhr valley coal and iron towns as Witten, Mulheim and Duisburg may be made by imagining the effect of nearly three times the volume of the 1889 Conemaugh lake unleashed to rush through Johnstown, Vandergrift and New Kensington into Pittsburgh's Golden Triangle.

Incentive for Speed

By The Associated Press

SOMEWHERE IN TENNESSEE—Army units on maneuvers in this area depend on a strong sense of mother love in pigeons to hasten delivery of messages. Lt. Rudolph Lang of St. Paul, pigeon officer of a combat pigeon platoon, explained it this way:

A pigeon egg is blown free of its yolk, a healthy beetle is inserted and the egg taped up. A mother pigeon hears the beetle scratching and takes it to be a squab getting ready to break out of the shell. When she is taken from her nest and given a message to deliver, she dashes it at top speed—sometimes approaching 70 miles an hour—so she can return to her nest and the pseudo-squab.

Chinese announce that sea-borne Jap invasion forces have been driven back to their ships after their landing on Chuanshih Island, at the mouth of the Min river east of Foochow; in Chekiang province, north of Fukien, a Jap column occupies Tunglu; Chiang announces recapture of Loshan in southern Honan province.

Garden Experience

BOULDER, Colo.—A spring storm flattened the pea plants of victory gardeners, shredded the lettuce plants and froze the beans.

"This gave city folks a glimpse of a farmer's everyday problems," says A. A. Paddock, publisher of the Boulder Daily Camera. "He constantly is fighting frost, wind, dust storms and drouth. So perhaps another advantage of the Victory Garden movement is the greater understanding it will bring between city dwellers and the farmers."

Not Half Enough

America Needs As Many Women in War Service As It Can Put There for Sake of Its Future.

By DAMON RUNYON

I HAVE ONLY one complaint about the two women's corps of our military and naval establishments, and that is they are too small in point of numbers. I think we should have several millions of girls in the two organizations in the service.

Their educational value to the United States is incalculable. The young women of today are the mothers of the generation to come that will, if necessary, fight our next war. From mothers who have worn the uniform of their country should come the greatest eagle brood in all our history.

I think it imperative that after this war we have some form of obligatory military training for all our youth of both sexes. In fact, after the confusion of raising our present army and the travail undergone by our kids in getting ready for it, I do not see how anyone can fail to see the wisdom of this training.

But probably there will always be some opposition to such a system, and I am relying upon the influence of the mothers of the future who will have seen service to break it down. The army and navy will most surely leave upon the girls now serving an impression of the necessity for the training—for physical culture and discipline. They will never oppose, as many of their mothers have, the instruction of their own children along these lines.

THUS in the years to come we will have a reservoir of prepared youth and save billions of dollars. Costly time will be saved in mustering an army. We will have such potential armed strength that our enemies will hesitate a long time before jumping us. They will know that they cannot again rely on our notorious sloth and difficulty in putting armies in the field.

I think the military training of our youth should be started at an early age in public school, to be followed by not less than a year of actual service in the regular army or navy for every boy at 17 and with five years in the reserve thereafter with continued training at intervals. Similar active service should be required of the girls in the same duties that members of the fair sex now performm in connection with the armed forces.

It has been demonstrated that the girls in this war are highly efficient in every capacity in which they have been employed. In fact, the service has failed to take full advantage of their capabilities in some respects. Young men are still used for tasks that could be discharged by girls and probably better. At least 100,000 men could be diverted to combat outfits by putting girls on their jobs.

BUT, what I am interested in mostly is the post-war propaganda from the service women for general military training. It is idle to think that this war is the last of our wars. That is thinking of that kind that got us in our present jam.

The matter of preparedness is not something to shout for a couple of years ago out something to be kept in practice for the next hundred years, and military training must be one of the strongest features of preparedness.

Although we will defeat and disarm the Japanese in this war, we will find ourselves at the finish in a sentinel role that we must never abandon. The Japs will remain a menace to us and to Australia and all Asia. They will be very humble for a long time and apparently harmless and inevitably will command the sympathy and the assistance that we always extend a conquered foe, but as soon as they get the wrinkles out of their stomachs they will be on the march again.

IN THE INTERVAL of peace and recovery they will be secretly developing and expanding the means of war in remote corners of their kingdom while outwardly kow-towing to our might. Among us will be altruists saying we do not understand those nice little people and ought not act so suspicious of them. Then one day the Japs will see our vigilance relaxed and will once more strike at us with the same treachery and venom they have already displayed.

As long as Japan is Japan, the Japanese will never forget the humiliation that will be theirs from defeat in this war.

Lend-Lease

A skeletonized report in "Washington Review," an information service published for members of United States Chamber of Commerce, contains this description of lend-lease operations:

"Congress which has authorized a total, overall lend-lease program of 60 billions is now learning how lend-lease in reverse is saving the United States great sums of money. Edward R. Stettinius Jr., administrator of the program, says that while exact figures are not available we know that in proportion to the resources they have available this lend-lease aid by our Allies to us and to each other is entirely comparable to our own.

Goods transferred by the United States through April 1 totalled 8.5 billion, while this nation's total aid was about 10.3 billion.

"In 1941, more than two-thirds of all lend-lease shipments went to the United Kingdom and only small amounts to Russia and the Far East. But in the last three months for which export figures are available, lend-lease was divided like this: United Kingdom, 38 per cent; Soviet Union, 31 per cent; Africa and the Middle East, 14 per cent; other areas, 1 per cent.

"Aircraft continue to make up the largest single category of all lend-lease, totaling [illegible] billion as of April 1. As for the future, officials say that, everything else being equal, lend-lease food shipments this year will be much larger than in 1942, when we shipped about 6 per cent of our supply.

"In return for this huge volume of aid to others, lend-lease officials have started to publicize what we receive in return. For example, it is reported that Canada has provided one [illegible] worth of supplies to its allies without payment, the United Kingdom. Australia and New Zealand also are contributing considerable [illegible] supplies. The chancellor of the exchequer estimates at 600 million the construction cost [illegible] of airdromes, barracks, hospitals and other buildings expressly for American use.

So They Say

History teaches that treaties of peace stipulated in a spirit and with conditions contrary both to the dictates of morality and to genuine political wisdom have had but a [illegible] short-lived existence.—Pope Pius XII.

We will proceed on the theory that people have the right to choose their own governments.—Foreign Rehabilitation Director Herbert H. Lehman.

It will be that much easier on our children and grandchildren to finance the war as we go along while we have a terrific income.—Treasury Secretary Henry Morgenthau Jr.

LECTURER AT LOCAL CHURCH

Margaret Matters Heard at Marion Church of Christ, Scientist.

Margaret Matters, C.S.B., of New York, member of the board of lectureship of The Mother Church, The First Church of Christ, Scientist, in Boston, Mass., last night gave a lecture, "The Complete Nature of Man as Revealed in Christian Science," at the Marion First Church of Christ, Scientist.

The lecturer spoke substantially as follows:

"Every individual is seeking satisfaction in some form. Some believe they will be satisfied with [illegible], others with health, others with position, and still others with inactivity and ease in matter. The Psalmist said, "I shall be satisfied when I awake, with thy likeness." Christian Science brings this awakening and shows that true man is conscious of his completeness in God; and this means completeness, for of course God is complete and His likeness is also. If satisfaction is awakeness to, or awareness of, man's true nature, then dissatisfaction must be sleep, or the unconsciousness of reality. If you find yourself dissatisfied with your surroundings, your business, your friends, your supply, your opportunities, your ability, your progress, wake up, for this dissatisfaction is sleep, or the unconsciousness of reality. Although sleep is utterly unconscious of reality, nevertheless it claims consciousness and its claim to consciousness is through dreams. Whatever seems to happen to you and me in this sleep state, which is unconscious of man's true nature as God's likeness, is a dream. Adam was one of earth's greatest dreamers, and almost the first thing he dreamed was that he was incomplete. Human beings are all Adam-dreamers and Christian Science comes to these dreamers and awakens them to the fact that man is God's complete likeness, reflecting or expressing the fatherhood and the motherhood of God. Thus man can never be dissatisfied with himself, for he is consciously expressing the strength, energy, intelligence, dominion, ability, and activity of his manhood as the likeness of his Father God, and the purity, tenderness, innocence, guidance, intuition, and love of his womanhood as the reflection or expression of his Mother God.

That which makes one a leader is the fact that he follows, in advance of others, the leadership of Love, of intelligence, of good, in his own consciousness. He does this by actually taking the footsteps pointed out through this leading; in other words, by doing the works and living Love. We are followers of such a leader to the extent that we discern the vision of Love which has led him, and are obedient to that leading by bringing forth the fruits of good, Spirit, by doing the healing works and by demonstrating brotherly love. There is nothing personal in this leadership, for the light or enlightenment that such a leader is holding aloft in his consciousness, and which is leading him, is also leading us. It is his perception, in advance of others, of this light that makes him a human leader. Mary Baker Eddy was such a leader. She has showed us the way to go, by making plain the footsteps of Truth, through her discovery of Christian Science, and she has led and is leading us through her statement of this discovery in her written works.

Sgt. Alvin York's Mother Dies at Hero Son's Home

By The Associated Press

PALL MALL, Tenn., May 22—A long, useful, happy life ended yesterday for Mrs. Mary York, 77, mother of World war I hero Sergt. Alvin C. York.

Blind and bedfast for years, Mrs. York died at Sergt. York's home where she resided.

V. C. M'LAUGHLIN CLAIMED BY DEATH

Patten St. Resident's Funeral Set for Monday.

Virgil Clair McLaughlin, 63, of 384 Patten street died in his home at 6 a. m. today after a long illness. He last worked as an employe of a grain elevator here in 1926.

Born Oct. 3, 1879 in Nevada, he was a son of Cornelius and Lucina Young McLaughlin. In November of 1907 he married Miss Cleo Welty in Nevada. He was a member of the Second Adventist church there.

Surviving besides the widow are a daughter, Mrs. Miriam Bowman of 336 Owens street, five grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. Mattie Shealy of Lima, and two brothers, Jesse and Edward McLaughlin of Nevada.

Funeral services will be conducted Monday at 2:30 p. m. in the Edwin K. Smith Home for Funerals on East Center street by Dr. S. M. Ingmire of Epworth Methodist church. Burial will be made in Forest Glen Memorial park. Friends may call at the funeral home.

BEVARD

noon. Recalled were Mrs. Sarah Angene, proprietor of the rooming house in which the Bevard's apartment was located, and P. G. Cook, a roomer who was living there at the time of the murder.

Under questioning by Prosecutor Scanlon Mrs. Angene repeated the story told to the court earlier in the trial. She said on the night of the murder she heard a thudding noise on the second floor of the home. She called to Mrs. Reed and asked if she was hurt, but Mrs. Reed replied, "No, I just fell." A few minutes later, Mrs. Angene testified, she heard screams and upon going to the door of the apartment shared by Bevard and Mrs. Reed heard a strange sound as though someone was being choked.

She called another roomer, Mr. Cook, and then she ordered the couple to quiet down and go to bed.

Next witness called by the state was Mr. Cook and he verified the story told by Mrs. Angene.

Also appearing on the witness stand were E. C. Fuller of the identification section of the Mansfield police department and Mansfield Chief of Police Mead K. Bates. Both officers identified photos in the possession of Prosecutor Scanlon as those finished and enlarged in the Mansfield police department photo laboratory.

Presented as state's evidence was clothing taken from the body of Mrs. Reed. The items of apparel included a blood stained blouse, a pair of slacks and a pair of shoes.

Yesterday's session, like previous ones, was attended by only a handful of spectators, including Pvt. Bevard's immediate family.

LaRue Youth Burned in Gasoline Explosion

Paul J. Blue, a member of the graduating class of the LaRue High school, suffered serious burns yesterday when a gasoline tank he was filling at the Ballinger service station, where he is employed, exploded. He was brought to Marion City hospital where his condition was reported as fair today.

In graduation exercises last night at the school a chair on the platform was left vacant and his diploma placed there until after the exercises were over, when another member of the class delivered the diploma to his home. He lives with his grandmother, Mrs. Bertha Wilson of LaRue.

Allied Decision To Increase China Aid Is God-Send

By DEWITT MACKENZIE

Determination of the allied war council in Washington to speed the movement of war materials and other supplies into China is a god-send for that hard-hit and long-suffering country.

This presumably will involve an extension of the American job of transporting stuff by air over the dangerous route across the mountains between India and China—one of the toughest assignments of the war. It will be worth it, though, for that's about the only way to move goods pending the recapture of Burma and the reopening of the Burma road, or the completion of fresh roads through the mountain wilderness.

Every extra hundred-weight package moved to the Chinese will be a tower of relief. When I was in Chungking early this year the situation as regards supplies was terribly bad—far worse, I believe, than the people of other countries ever realized.

No Calls for Food

The Celestials have been so hard up for fighting equipment that their success in withstanding utter defeat is one of the wonders of the world. They have been hamstrung for lack of arms and equipment of all categories. About the only weapon they have had with which to wage war, apart from their splendid determination and courage, has been limitless space to trade to the enemy for time.

The Chinese have been waiting to get equipped by the allies. Meantime their resources have been so small that the military command hasn't found it feasible to engage in major offensive operations. About all that could be done was hold the line as best possible.

U. S. FLIERS BLAST JAP SUPPLY BARGES

By The Associated Press

ALLIED HEADQUARTERS IN AUSTRALIA, May 22—Dogged efforts of the Japanese to supply their menaced New Guinea bases by barge and determination of the allies to neutralize enemy air strongholds above New Guinea with a great weight of bombs have intensified the southwest Pacific air war.

Showing more and more inclination to challenge the daily forays of Lieut. General George C. Kenney's bombers and fighters, the Japanese used 47 planes yesterday in raid and combat, bringing to 300 the number they have employed in a week's period. Their losses yesterday of 22 destroyed or damaged raised their total for the week to approximately 70.

Today's communique also listed one allied bomber as shot down and three missing.

Lodge, Galion American Legion Drum Corps, Spanish War Veterans and the Widows of Civil War Veterans.

Taking part in the services at the cemetery will be a firing squad of Co. H of the Ohio State Guard, the Marion Navy club, Prospect American Legion post and a drill team representing the women's auxiliary of the Marion Eagles lodge.

The exercises are being held on May 23 to avoid conflicting with Memorial Day observances elsewhere in the county on the following Sunday.

Erie Declares Third Common Stock Dividend

CLEVELAND, May 22—Robert E. Woodruff, president of the Erie Railroad, reported yesterday in New York that April operating revenues of $13,515,294 were highest in the company's history, up 20.8 per cent from April, 1942. He said the April operating ratio was 58.77 per cent or the lowest in 27 years.

Directors declared a dividend of 50 cents a share payable June 15 to stock of record June 1, the third payment ever voted on common stock.

Operating revenues in first four months were $50,117,650, or 24 per cent above like period last year. During first 18 days of May an average of 523 cars of petroleum products were handled daily from principal connections to the Atlantic seaboard.

Higher federal taxes resulted in lower net income in April, the figures being $1,294,001, or $83,334 less than year ago. Federal tax provision was $2,063,927, an increase of $1,071,982. For four months net income was $3,853,950, an increase of $141,464 over 1942 period. Federal tax allowance was $7,943,500, an increase of $5,004,177 over year ago. Four-month net income was equal to $1.23 a share, compared with $1.17 year ago.

COMMUNISTS ORDER BRANCHES DISSOLVED

Moscow Reds Act To Remove World Domination Bogey.

By The Associated Press

MOSCOW, May 22—The Executive committee of the Communist Internatonal asked branches throughout the world today to consider its recommendation to dissolve.

Pointing out there was not time now for a formal convention, the executive committe recommended that sections, wherever they exist, cease their duties under prevailing regulations

* * *

LONDON, May 22—A dissolution of the comintern, the international Communist organization founded in 1919 to forward the cause of world revolution, was asked by a resolution of the executive committee in Moscow today amid signs of growing cooperation among Soviet Russia and her allies.

One Communist authority in London declared the comintern never would be resurrected.

The German radio, broadcasting the "reaction of Berlin quarters," promptly declared "the whole affair is a gigantic bluff of allied wirepullers" and connected it with plans for an invasion of the continent.

The resolution adopted by the presidium of the international's executive committee in Moscow was interpreted here as meaning complete abolition of the Third International—although it did not specifically rule out reestablishment of the organization after the war.

Both the Soviet monitor, who recorded the resolution in London, and Communist party quarters indorsed this interpretation of the resolution.

One Communist authority added that dissolution of the International would clear the way for unifying all Communist and Socialist parties throughout the world on a new voluntary basis.

He declared the International never would be resurrected.

Harding Defeated 3 to 1 By Bexley

Columbus Pitcher Gets No Hit Game To End Season for Locals.

Harding High's Presidents were ousted from the Ohio State district baseball tournament in the semi-final round on East High field at Columbus yesterday by a strong Bexley nine, 3 to 1. Lion pitcher Herb Pollock took top honors of the day and of the tourney thus far by hurling a no-hit game against the Prexies.

Pollock, who started a postponed contest against Harding last Saturday, struck out 13 Harding batsmen and allowed only three walks in marking up his no hit accomplishment. The President's lone tally was a present of Bexley first baseman McDermott. The run came in the last half of the second which Pitcher Don Kay opened by reaching first on a McDermott miscue. Mulvaine then walked after which the Lion first sacker again committed an error which permitted Kay to cross home plate. However, Pollock calmly retired the next three men, fanning two of them, Beach and Shirk.

Kay's mound performance was no mediocre job but even the big Marion portsider's speedy offerings could not best the efforts of the red hot Pollock. Kay allowed six Bexley safeties and issued nary a free pass, a feat rare for a fast ball pitcher. However, Kay was able to fan only two Bexley wood swingers.

All of the Lion runs came in the opening half of the initial frame with four singles accounting for the outburst. Loehnert led off the fireworks with a one baser followed by an error by Prexy third sacker Jim Bowers. Two straight singles then chalked up two Bexley counters, sufficient to win the tilt. Pitcher Pollock himself applied wood to horse hide for a single and the last of the Lion runs.

From the first of the third inning on, the game resolved itself to a pitching battle between Kay and Pollock. Only two hits were made in the last four innings of the contests. With a tricky drop and fair speed, in addition to essential mound poise, Pollock outclassed and outfooled the President stickers to mark up a hit free performance on his record.

This game ends the Harding baseball season for 1943. Including regular season games and tournament contests, the Presidents have won only three out of eight games. The victories were over Galion at Lincoln park, and over Columbus East and Delaware in the tournament. Of these wins, Kay hurled two and Dick Mulvaine one.

REDS AND DODGERS TEST WARES TODAY

First Meeting of Season Set for Ebbets Field.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 22 — The Cincinnati Reds and the Brooklyn Dodgers clash for the first time the season today at Ebbets field.

Bucky Walters who has won two and lost two, will be on the mound for the Reds; the bums signified they would work behind the efforts of Ed Head, who has won a pair while losing one this season.

Players of both teams spent yesterday whiling away their time instead of playing the first scheduled game of the four-game series, because the weatherman made playing conditions impossible.

Weather conditions, however, had nothing to do with the fact that Redleg General Manager Warren C. Giles returned to New York empty-handed from Philadelphia where he had gone in hopes of talking the Phillies or the Chicago Cubs out of an outfielder.

High on Giles' priority list was Earl Naylor, speedy Philly center-fielder, but a quick and firm "not interested" from Philly owner Bill Cox quashed the Cincinnati G. M.'s overtures.

Similar treament was handed out by the Cubs' deflated James boys—Wilson and Gallagher. The Cubs, in the midst of a nine-game losing streak, are holding on to everything they've got.

A doubleheader with the Dodgers Sunday will finish the Reds' current eastern swing.

INDIANS SAVE ACES FOR YANKEE GAMES

Bagby To Go Against Leaders Tonight.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, May 22 — The Cleveland Indians hoarded their ace moundsmen for the New York Yankees but thanks to five successive postponements, the league leaders will threaten with their own hurling elite when they make their debut in tonight's floodlight fray.

Manager Lou Boudreau has chosen Jim Bagby to work against Hank Borowy in the opener. For Sunday's scheduled double header, the tribe manager will use Al Smith and Chubby Dean. Ernie Bonham and Spud Chandler are expected to hurl for the invaders.

The weather caused postponement of yesterday's contest and the tribe management announced it would be played tonight at the stadium with a bargain bill arranged for the week-end date.

The Yankees haven't taken the field since last Sunday when they divided two games with the St. Louis Browns. The Indians played only two games of the scheduled four against the Red Sox this week, losing both ends of a double header Thursday.

MONTGOMERY TAKES TITLE AWAY FROM BOUNCING BEAU JACK

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 22—A pair of tonsils—or, rather, their absence—have made a lightweight champion out of in-and-outer Bob Montgomery, and now that he's traded in those throat troubles for the title, he's figuring on showing who's the boss of the 135-pounders from coast to coast.

Having won New York and New Jersey title recognition by bouncing the bouncing Beau Jack all over the premises for the better part of 15 rounds in Madison Square garden last night, and being virtually assured of Pennsylvania's "blessing" Wednesday, Bobcat Bob is thinking of taking his crown for a quick swing around the circuit from Washington to Portland, Me.

After that, he'll go through with his contract to give the jumping Jack a return shot at the bauble, probably in the Polo Grounds here in July. But, after last night's shindig, which entertained 18,343 of the citizens, the Beau should take his time about getting back within range of the shots with which Bobcat Bob all but punched both his eyes shut last night.

There are a lot of theories as to just what switched hot-and-cold Robert into a fancy Philadelphia firecracker who had the high-favored one-time shoe-shine boy all but looking for a door last night long before the 15 rounds were up, but the most logical seems to be the one about the terrible tonsils.

Certainly, his little job of work last night was as good as he's ever done. After letting the Beau have his fling for five rounds, Bob came along to take the play through the last nine rounds and grab the title in the wild-swinging Georgian's first defense since he was handed the honors by the New York commission after Sammy Angott abdicated last fall.

There'll be mighty few among the customers who chipped in to the $94,500 "pot" in the garden last night willing to wager that he can't show that his first frolic was no fluke.

LYONS STILL LEADS ASSOCIATION HITTERS

But Three Brewers Come Up To Challenge Him.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, May 22—Although slipping from .481 to .405, Al Lyons, Kanasas City outfielder, was the leading hitter in the American Association—but three Milwaukee sluggers had moved up to challenge him.

Based on 40 or more times at bat in games through Wednesday, Hershel Martin with .386, Ted Norbert with .352, and Grey Clarke with .345—all Brewers—were determined to overtake Lyons, who got only four hits in 15 trips to the plate during the week.

Another powerful hitter was Hugh Holliday of Louisville who had tapped out a .387. Hugh has been to bat only 31 times however.

Al Hunt of St. Paul headed three hitting divisions, being first in number of hits with 23, total bases with 39, and doubles with 8. Lyons was tops in runs batted in with 18, and Bill Norman of Milwaukee, last year's AA home run king, was ahead in four-ply knocks with four, besides scoring the most runs—14. Ed Morgan of Indianapolis paced the triple-hitters, banging four.

Otey Clarke of Minneapolis and Johnny Whitehead of Toledo shared the pitching honors, each with four wins and no defeats.

New Plan Devised To Play Postponed Games

By The Associated Press

BROOKLYN, May 22—Since the stream-lined schedule leaves little room for playing off postponed games, the Brooklyn Dodgers came up with a new idea for taking care of yesterday's postponed contest with the Cincinnati Reds.

The Dodgers and Reds are scheduled for a twilight game at Ebbets field, June 30. They decided to play today's game at the regular time, 3 p. m. on June 30, and then swing into the twilight affair to complete a double-header.

Yesterday, the National league announced the Phillies had scheduled a morning and afternoon game with the Braves on June 15, one of which will be a postponed game.

Don't Overlook Mack's A's!

By HUGH FULLERTON JR.
Associated Press Sports Writer

In the hullabaloo over Bill Cox's revival of the Phillies, it may have been overlooked that Connie Mack's Athletics aren't doing so badly either.

The American league standings show the A's in sixth place today, but Philadelphia—and the Chicago White Sox as well—are only two games out of second place a month after the belated start of the 1943 season.

The Athletics haven't a .300 hitter on the club—Bobby Estalella and Jo-Jo White dropped below that mark last night—but they've come up with a couple of prizepackage pitchers who mean a lot to a club in these days of low-hit games.

There's Jesse Flores, the frijole flipper from Guadalajara, Mex., who's won five games and lost only one so far. And last night Orrie Arntzen, a newcomer from Williamsport of the Eastern league, added his name to the list by outlasting the veteran Johnny Niggeling of the St. Louis Browns in a floodlight pitching duel.

The Athletics' 2-1 triumph over the Browns was a highlight of a three-game major league program which produced a total of only 36 hits and seven runs.

Chicago's White Sox kept pace with the Athletics and dropped Washington a few points out of second place by winning another floodlight contest, 1 to 0, behind the three-hit hurling of Johnny Humphries, while Detroit's Tigers grabbed fourth place from St. Louis as the result of their 2-1, 13-inning conquest of the Boston Red Sox in the afternoon. Cleveland's idle Indians moved into second.

The entire National league card was postponed, but the Phillies again managed to get into the spotlight. Owner Bill Cox revealed he had made an offer to Lefty Gomez, former Yankee great recently cast adrift by the Boston Braves, and he listed a Saturday night game, a major rarity, after last night's game was called off.

Red Bird Pitcher Shuts Out Toledo

By The Associated Press

Fourteen shutout games have been pitched in the American Association so far this season, but probably the one which counted the most was delivered by Columbus' moundsman, Ken Burkhart.

The Redbirds moved to the front in the whitewash records last night by belting St. Paul 9-0. Burkhart came through with a neat two-hit performance for his second win of the season and never allowed a runner to reach third. He took the mound only a few hours before being advised that his father, A. M. Burkhart, 62, had died of an appendicitis attack in Cleveland.

The Columbus win lifted the junior world champions from third to second place in the standings, two games behind the league leading Indianapolis Indians, who erased a 3-1 deficit with a three-run eighth inning to beat Milwaukee 4-3.

Kansas City evacuated second place after losing to the Louisville Colonels 3 to 2.

Minneapolis at Toledo was postponed.

YOUNG ATHLETES FIGHT FOR PLACES IN OHIO CONTEST

Forty-six Events in State Today To Pick Competitors for Next Week.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 22—High school athletic standings will be under heavy assault in the 17 track meets, six golf tournaments, 15 baseball exhibitions and eight tennis matches scheduled in Ohio today.

The reason?

Some 15,000 teen-aged athletes will be in there pitchin' to qualify for next week-end's four-sport championship carnival at Ohio State university.

Only group certain of participating in the title events is Logan's golf team. As the only golf entry from the southeastern district, the Logan linksters will go directly to the state meet.

Here's where today's events are scheduled:

Class A track: Uhrichsville, Cleveland, Salem, Bowling Green, Mansfield, Athens, Springfield and Cincinnati. (Defending champion—Cleveland East Tech.)

Class B track: Uhricssville, Chagrin Falls, Braceville, Lorain, Bowling Green, Mansfield, Athens, Springfield and Cincinnati. (Defending champion—Xenia O. S. & S. O. home.)

Class A baseball: Columbus, Lima, South Euclid, Toledo, Findlay, Athens, Cincinnati and Miamisburg (defending champion—Tiltonsville.)

Class B baseball: Columbus, Kent, Tiffin, Defiance, Athens, Miamisburg and Cincinnati (defending champion—Reading.)

Golf (no classes): Columbus, Cleveland, Canton, Toledo, Springfield, and Cincinnati (defending champion—Sylvania.)

Tennis (no classes): Columbus, Martins Ferry, Cleveland, Akron, Bowling Green, Athens, Springfield and Cincinnati. (Defending doubles champion—Martins Ferry; defending singles champion—Cincinnati Hughes.)

Events not completed by sundown will be carried over to next week, said H. R. Townsend, state scholastic athletic commissioner, assuring a full set of qualifiers for next week-end's title tests.

RACE MEET ALLOWED

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., May 22—The state racing commission today authorized the Ascot Park Jockey Club of Akron to conduct a 19-day running meet July 31 to Aug. 19. The commission reported the Toledo Jockey club withdrew an application for a 22-day meeting from June 10 to July 2 at Fort Miami track.

Softball Season Set To Open Monday at Lincoln Diamond

Coca-Cola Will Meet Universal Cooler in Game Postponed from This Week Due to Wet Grounds.

If the Lincoln park turf is in reasonable playing condition Monday, the 1943 Marion softball season will get underway with an Industrial league game between Universal Cooler and Coca-Cola at 5:30 p. m.

Originally scheduled for last Monday, the season curtain raiser was postponed a week, thereby necessitating the moving back a week of all contests this summer.

Due to the Harding High school physical education demonstration to be held Monday, City Recreation Director Vic Dorris will be unable to present a gymnastic exhibition for Monday's game as originally intended. Instead, Softball Commission Secretary Marion Mewhorter has arranged a preliminary game between two newly organized girls' teams at 6 o'clock. These two feminine squads represent the Universal Cooler Corp. One of the teams consists of company office girls and the other, of girls working in the factory.

First Women's Teams

These two feminine outfits are the first of their kind in the history of Marion softball.

The Universal teams are the only ones organized thus far in Marion this year according to Mr. Mewhorter. However, any other group of Marion women desiring to form a softball team should contact Mr. Mewhorter at the Y. M. C. A. If feminine interest in the sport warrants it, a girls' league may be organized this summer.

There will be, in reality three city softball leagues although the Industrial and Commercial loops will play under the same banner. Coca-Cola and the Waldo Dodgers are the only Commercial league squads playing this summer and will therefore play in the Industrial league which has five representatives. However, standings of Industrial and Commercial teams will be registered separately. Games will be played between the Industrial and Commercial teams but will not count in the standings. Industrial loop teams which will play in the so-called Industrial-Commercial league this summer are Universal Cooler, Hu General Excavator, Commercial Steel, and the U. S. Army Engineers Depot.

Schedule of Games

Sunday School league teams will play on Monday nights this summer with Industrial-Commercial squads playing on Tuesday and Thursday nights starting May [illegible] Two rounds of games will be played in each league with [illegible] games to each round, or a total of 12 tilts for the season per team.

Ball parks to be used this summer are Garfield, Lincoln and McKinley. The schedule has been arranged so that each team will play two games in each park per round. Two contests will be played Tuesday and two on Thursday in the Industrial-Commercial loop. The schedules in both leagues will be rotated for equal distribution of all games in respect to the three parks.

THE SCENE ABOVE IS FROM "THE HUMAN COMEDY," which will start Sunday at the Palace theater. Mickey Rooney displays the medal he won at a track meet. It was a big event for Mickey but from the appearance of James Craig and Marsha Hunt they are not too interested even though Frank Morgan tries to build it up.

Rooney, Morgan Starred in Feature at Palace

"The Human Comedy" To Be Shown Four Days Starting Sunday; "Cairo" Coming.

"The Human Comedy" starring Mickey Rooney and Frank Morgan will start at the Palace theater Sunday and continue through Wednesday.

In this tender story of human people, Mickey Rooney is said to give one of the best performances of his career. It deals with a family of a typical American small town poor in worldly goods but spiritually rich. Fay Bainter is the mother, a widow, and her eldest son is a private in the army. Mickey, a second son, gets a messenger's job in the local telegraph office, working after school to help out at home. His work calls for him to meet people—all sorts of people—and to get to know them. He learns much from Frank Morgan, in the role of an old telegrapher.

Starting Thursday and playing through Saturday is "Cairo" with Robert Young and Jeanette MacDonald.

Egypt, trouble spot of the Near East, becomes the locale for this newest musical offering and serves as the background for the timely, tuneful, romantic story of a stranded American movie star caught in a web of international intrigue. Hilarious situations are presented when the star, played by Miss MacDonald, suspects a small-town newspaper reporter, Robert Young, of being a spy.

Sharing the bill is William Tracy and Joe Sawyer in "Fall In." This comedy-romance continues the fued of the already famous Sergeants Doubleday and Ames. Jean Porter supplies the romantic interest.

Midnight show Saturday brings to the stage Dr. Neff's Horror Show and on the screen "The Falcon Strikes Back" starring Tom Conway and Jane Randolph.

A detective's efforts to clear himself of a robbery and murder charge by capturing the real criminals forms the basis of this story. Tom Conway has the title role of the suave sleuth who finds himself up against the toughest problem of his career when a gang of crooks frame him.

Talent Program Given at Edison Junior High

The Vernon talent program was presented at the assembly of Thomas A. Edison Junior High school Friday morning. Next Friday the juniors will present their annual class day exercises, which will be the last for the present school term. Parents and school patrons are invited.

The instrumental music department of Thomas A. Edison High school gave the program in the regular assembly hour last Friday morning when members of the orchestra and band directed by Miss DeMeril Hafer gave their annual concert for the student body.

Reba Freeman, member of the band, announced the program numbers, which were: "Jolly Tars," "Bugler's Overture," "The Squadron," "Devotion Choral," "East Meets West," with Lewis McPeek directing, "Tune-In Overture" and "Hail Harvest."

The orchestra played "March in C Major," by Bach; "Minuet from Military Symphony," Haydn; "Bourree," by Handel; "Country Garden," Granger; "March Militaire," conducted by Lewis McPeek; and "American National Airs." Mozel Haas announced the numbers and Violet Marshall was at the piano. Joan Walker, chaplain of the Junior Girl Reserves, was in charge of the morning devotions.

Australians Show Favor of Leasing Bases to U. S.

By GEORGE GALLUP
Director, American Institute of Public Opinion.

PRINCETON, N. J., May 22—The extent to which Australians are looking to the United States for armed support after the war as well as at present is revealed in a public opinion survey completed this week throughout Australia and scheduled to be reported in Commonwealth newspapers today.

The survey shows that the overwhelming majority of people in that large unit of British Empire are in favor of granting bases in Australia to the American Navy and airforces after the war.

Favor 25-Year Plan

The preponderant opinion is that such bases should be leased for a limited period, say 25 years, but nearly one-fourth of the Australian population is willing to see American occupation of strategic bases become permanent.

Opinion concerning post-war bases was sounded on the following issue:

"Would you favor or oppose letting the United States Navy and airforces use bases in Australia after the war?"

Favor	77%
Oppose	15
Undecided	8

Those who indicated themselves in favor of such a move were asked:

"Should this right be granted permanently, or should bases be leased for a limited period, say 25 years?"

Permanently	23%
Limited Period	47
Undecided	7
	77%

When the fall of Singapore and the British East Indies left Australia with no substantial help from Britain, many Australians argued that the Commonwealth should identify her interests more or less permanently with the United States.

Today's survey results indicate that Australian opinion is still tending in that direction, despite the growth of British naval and air power since Singapore fell.

Youth Training for War

The Commonwealth is anxious to see that Australia does her own part, particularly in the training of her youth for war.

Whereas, American young men are not subject to compulsory military service until the age of 18, the great majority of voters in the Commonwealth believe their government should adopt military training of youths 16-17 years of age.

"Should compulsory cadet training of youths of 16 and 17 begin immediately?"

Yes	79%
No	16
Undecided	5

Ohio Shows "Crash Dive"

Tyrone Power, Anne Baxter Featured in Film Story of Submarine Warfare.

Now playing at the Ohio theater through Thursday is "Crash Dive" with Tyrone Power and Anne Baxter.

Thrills above, below and across the Atlantic are offered in this first picture of Uncle Sam's fighting submarines. From the time the technicolor picture opens with its panorama of the sub-infested Atlantic, the film is a series of action scenes.

Navy Lieutenant Tyrone Power is assigned to New London, Conn. Dana Andrews plays the part of Power's senior officer, a young man who has raised himself up from the ranks. The story itself tells of the many and varied duties of the submarine division, all dangerous and requiring nerveless, iron constitutions.

The climax takes place when members of the crew under Power's command stage a commando-like raid on a secret enemy refueling base.

Almost all of the film's location shots were taken at the Navy's great submarine base at New London, Conn., lending a note of authenticity.

"Yankee Doodle Dandy" starring James Cagney and Joan Leslie will start Friday and continue through Monday.

This show is returned at popular prices by popular demand and it brings to the screen the life story of America's greatest showman—George M. Cohan.

"Girls' Town" One of Double Feature Program at State

"Lawless," starring Charles Starrett and Russell Hayden, and "Girls' Town," with June Storey and Edith Fellows, are the two films billed at the State theater for Sunday and Monday.

"Girls' Town" is the story of two sisters who are stranded in Hollywood by an unscrupulous promoter after one of the sisters won the trip in a fake beauty contest. The story is a dramatic and absorbing story of true life in the most glamorous city in the world.

"Male Animal," with Henry Fonda and Olivia de Haviland as co-stars, and "Timber," with Leo Carrillo and Andy Devine, will be shown Tuesday and Wednesday.

"Male Animal" has interwoven in its story a series of hilarious situations, involving a university homecoming, a football rally and the big game and some amusingly contrived romantic complications and it builds into the climax—the main event clash between a professor and a trustee.

Johnny Mack Brown in "Man From Montana" and Sidney Blackmen and Lynn Starr in "Panther's Claw," will start Thursday and continue through Saturday.

"Black Swan" at the Marion

Tyrone Power and Maureen O'Hara Starred in Pirate Film Booked 2 Days.

"Black Swan" starring Tyrone Power and Maureen O'Hara will start at the midnight show tonight at the Marion theater and continue through Monday.

"Black Swan" is a techeicolor dramatization of an adventure-packed pirate epic with Tyrone Power as Captain Jamey Waring and Miss O'Hara as the spirited girl who takes a great deal of masterful wooing before she is won over.

Sharing the bill is "Mug Town" with the Dead End Kids and Little Tough Guys. The two gangs portray youthful renegades who, as freight car itinerants, escape railway detectives only to wind up in a highjack enterprise.

"Let's Have Fun" with the "Mad Russian" and Margaret Lindsay and "No Place for a Lady" starring William Gargan and Margaret Lindsay, will play Tuesday and Wednesday. The latter film is the first picture showing how the modern bootlegger operates his black market in rubber tires.

"The Fighting Buckaroo" starring Charles Starrett and Kay Harris and "Eyes of the Underworld" with Richard Dix and Lon Chaney will be shown Thursday through Saturday. "Fighting Buckaroo" is an outdoor adventure drama. "Eyes of the Underworld" is based on the activities of the organized motor car theft gangs since the establishment of wartime restrictions on auto and tire sales.

COURT NEWS

Court Action Settled

A common pleas court action brought by Francis P. Dwyer and Mrs. Lucille Jacobs against Universal Housing, Inc., Mrs. Ivah Clark, Harry Clark and Robert Cunningham, was settled yesterday in the midst of a hearing that had been started the preceding day before Judge Chester Pendleton of Findlay. Terms of the settlement were not disclosed, but attorneys said under terms of the agreement Mr. Dwyer and Mrs. Jacobs have withdrawn from Universal Housing, Inc. All the parties were originally part of the corporation, which developed a group of double houses north of the Universal Cooler Corp. plant. Dwyer and Mrs. Jacobs had sued to set aside an election of directors of the corporation to enjoin the corporation from proceeding until their status had been determined in court. Grant E. Mouser Jr. represented Dwyer and Mrs. Jacobs. Howard F. Guthery was counsel for the defendants.

STOCKS LAG IN DULL TRADING

Little Headway Is Made by Market Leaders in Today's Session.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, May 22 — The stock market today was mainly a stop-look-and-listen affair and, while scattered steels, rails and specialties made a little headway, numerous leaders got nowhere.

Buying timidity was blamed partly on the cloudy union labor outlook in the coal and motor fields, the still far from settled tax situation and the desire of many customers to await the next phase of the allied offensive in the world conflict. War news seemed to provide scant purchasing inspiration.

The fact selling came out in mere driblets was an encouraging sign for bullish contingents. Transfers of less than 400,000 shares were among the smallest for the year to date. Near the close small gains and losses were pretty evenly divided.

Bonds and commodities maintained a steady course.

Stocks in front most of the time included U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Baltimore & Ohio, Pennsylvania, Standard Oil (NJ), Chrysler, Sears Roebuck, Woolworth, International Harvester, Boeing, Westinghouse and General Electric.

Lacking rising steam were N. Y. Central, Montgomery Ward, United Aircraft, Sperry and Eastman Kodak.

Mrs. Otto Ehrick of Bucyrus Dies Suddenly

Special to The Star

BUCYRUS, May 22 — A heart attack caused the sudden death in Cleveland Thursday of Mrs. Otto Ehrick, 81, lifelong resident of Bucyrus.

Survivors include three children Harry C. of Findlay; William F. of Columbus and Mrs. Edward Brandstetter of Cleveland at whose home she died.

Funeral services were to be this afternoon at the Henderson and Lutz funeral home with the Rev. H. H. Glick officiating and burial in Oakwood cemetery.

Waring Cites Strike as Way To Lose War

ALBUQUERQUE, N. M., May 22—Roane Waring, national commander of the American Legion, declared the strikes at Chrysler plants are "doing something to help lose this war." If a soldier acted similarly, Waring added, "he'd be in front of a firing squad in 24 hours."

Waring, addressing New Mexico Legion members last night, said John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers, "sacrificed eight million man hours to satisfy a personal grudge he has against the President."

Pitfalls of Love

By ADELE GARRISON

I ROSE to my feet with finality at Stephen Redfield's revelation of the petty errand which he was dramatizing so emotionally.

"Do you mean to tell me," I said severely, "that you are wasting your time and mine upon something so puerile as the question of an actress stealing your scenes?"

He drew himself up with offended dignity. "I did not say she was stealing them," he declaimed. "Nobody can steal a scene of mine unless I permit it."

I could not resist tossing a barb in his direction.

"Not Mary?" I said meaningly.

He stopped short at that, for he was aware that I knew, as did every one else, that Mary was the star of the play, he simply her leading man.

Evidently he realized the futility of pretense along that line, for he said with every appearance of frankness—"Mary always excepted, of course. She could steal a scene from me, if she wished, but for some reason, she never even has tried to do so."

Madge Controls an Impulse

My hand itched to wipe the smirk from his face with a well-directed slap, for it said more plainly than words that the reason Mary never had tried to steal a scene from him was because of her infatuation for him. But I spoke quietly.

"It simply isn't in Mary to try to steal a scene from anyone, nor does she resent having anyone try to do it to her, knowing how secure she is in the hearts of her public."

He seized upon that speech, and made the most of it. "But suppose her public forgets her?" he asked. "Constance Bridgeman is doing her best to undermine Mary, as well as trying to steal my scenes."

"I always have thought you possessed of ordinary common sense," I said frigidly. "You ought to know that Constance Bridgeman could not alienate a single admirer of Mary's art from her. You say she could not steal your scenes. Then—why have you come to me?"

"Because," he said frenziedly, "I am threatened with a nervous breakdown because of Constance Bridgeman's actions. I know what influence is yours. I want you to forbid her to keep on with her tricks."

I stared at him with astonishment. "Have you gone out of your mind?" I asked, "that you bring to me petty things like that for my adjustment? If this is your sole errand, I am afraid I must ask you to excuse me now."

I moved toward the door, but he was swifter than I, and I felt his hand like steel, gripping my wrist. From her corner, I saw Katharine fairly leap to her feet and rush toward me.

The Action Is Venomous

"Then you refuse to do anything for me?" he said.

"As far as dealing with Miss Bridgeman goes," I told him, "I most certainly refuse. Will you kindly take your hand from my wrist, and go?"

He dropped his hand, and moved toward the door. But his voice was venomous when he reached it. "You may not care for my melodrama," he said, "but you may be impressed by a certain phase of it—when I get around to exhibiting it."

He went out of the room upon that. But when I started to follow him, with the intention of going over to Mary's apartment, Katharine's fingers closed upon my arms with a grip as strong as the one Stephen had given me.

"You're not going out of that door alone," she said.

YOUR HEALTH

By LOGAN CLENDENING, M. D.

Baldness.

I HAVE had a number of letters recently from people who want to know the cause and prevention of baldness. If I knew this, I probably wouldn't be writing newspaper articles, but would be living in luxury on the fruits of my knowledge, surrounded by flunkeys who were waiting on me hand and foot.

It must be evident to anyone who goes around his fellow creatures that nobody knows the cause and cure of baldness. Sit in the back row of a movie theater, notice the reflection of the light on the bald domes and mark the neat tonsures below the line where the hair stops. If there were a good treatment, you would not see them.

The best bet is that baldness is hereditary. The hair is extremely sensitive to hereditary influences. Identical twins have hair that swirls, one in one direction and the other in the opposite. Naturally curly hair curls with remarkable similarity to that of the father or mother of the possessor. The number of waves and the position of the waves is exactly the same. The hereditary nature of hair growth is shown in all of the lower animals.

Dogs of one species have, generation after generation, the same hair color and distribution. So it is very likely that baldness is hereditary. This is no comfort to anybody who has it, however, because by the time he begins to get bald, there is nothing he can do about his father or grandfather.

The hair roots are little cellular structures and in a person who is doomed to get bald, they begin to atrophy at about the age of 28. Nobody who goes through the experience of having his hair come out in wads can ever believe that people begin to get bald at the age of 28, but they do just the same and nothing can stop the inevitable progress.

All the perfumes of Araby, all the lights, all the electric heaters, all the massage, all the gadgets, all the shampoos, all the vitamins and all the endocrines in the world can be advocated, but it will be in vain. Philosophy and resignation are the only treatments that are worthwhile.

I am referring now to a common form of baldness. There is a condition called alopecia areata, in which bald spots occur. It may affect individuals at any age and can be successfully treated.

The care of healthy hair is not a matter of very much moment. Those who give a great deal of time and thought to their hair probably overtreat it, rather than undertreat it. The simplest forms of soap and warm water are the best for washing the hair, and thorough washing should not be done more than once a week.

Advice against wetting the hair daily is quackery. I know a dozen people—one of them being myself—who have immersed their hair in water two or three times a day for many years and who still have a good, heavy crop of hair.

Dandruff is a form of seborrheic dermatitis. For cleansing—benzine, followed by sweet oil or olive oil. Soap and water are to be avoided except once a week when on Saturday night an ointment containing salicylic acid, 1 part, ammoniated mercury, 2 parts and ointment, 30 parts, is rubbed in, left all night and worked out with warm water and green soap the following morning.

QUESTIONS AND ANSWERS

A. B.: Will you please give me information on shingles? What is its cause and is it contagious?

Answer: Shingles is an affection of the nervous system, usually affecting those nerves that go around the skin of the chest or trunk and causing a very painful skin eruption in the form of a blister. The cause is unknown, but it is not contagious.

T. Y.:—What is fluid in the tissues and from what may it develop? What is digitalis and what is it given for and will it reduce weight?

Answer: Fluid in the tissues comes from a heart weakness in most cases and in such cases digitalis is a great benefit because it strengthens the heart and thus removes fluid from the tissues. In this way digitalis "reduces weight."

The Stars Say—

For Sunday, May 23

SUNDAY'S horoscope, although fairly lively and eventful, may not be read as entirely favorable or propitious. There may be subtle plots and undercurrents lying in wait for the unwary. This may menace home or love ties as well.

Those whose birthday it is may feel the energy for initiative and enterprise, but they may encounter treachery unless shrewd.

A child born on this day may be energetic and practical but may suffer from the evil machinations of their friends, to their loss and sorrow.

* * *

For Monday, May 24

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for a time of onrushing events which may send the ambitions and aspirations to new levels of good fortune. It should be a time for reaching to the highest of goals with vigor, determination and skill. Seek these and forge ahead, for cherished hopes and wishes in business and at home.

Those whose birthday it is may be on the eve of happiness, with favors from the mighty. Such goals should be sought with initiative, courage and resolution. The joys of such fulfillments may also be felt in the home and love life.

A child born on this day may be ably endowed to attain great heights in business, in social and domestic life. It should be ambitious in anything it may tackle in life.
